Change in engineers by district

By HARRY BARNES
of the Press-Record

The Metro-East Sanitary District has decided to retain the Belleville engineering firm of Hurst-Rosche to handle district engineering work formerly under the direction of James Spanos, of Belleville. Board trustees made the announcement Wednesday after removing Spanos as the district's engineer.

Board officials said the change was made to comply with the district organization law which requires the sanitary district to be administered by an executive director rather than by the board, and the board's desire that engineering activities be directed by a qualified engineer.

Spanos has served as district engineer since 1971, although officials say he does not have an engineering degree. Spanos will continue to work as an employee of the district's engineering department.

The Society of Professional Engineers has been urging the district to either change Spanos' title or replace him, alleging that it was inappropriate for him to be known as sanitary district engineer.

His change in job status will be the only one following an annual reorganization of the district last week in which Russell Robinson of Granite City was re-elected as board chairman for the fourth consecutive term.

The executive director job, which must by law be filled by an engineer, has been vacant about a year since the departure of Wendell Wheaton. Board members have been handling some of those duties in the meantime, and currently are advertising for applicants for the executive director position.

Omer Brummitt, Cahokia, was re-elected vice-chairman to serve in Robinson's absence. Other members of the board include John Ehrhart of Washington Park, Dave Bergfield of Granite City and Walter Greathouse of Granite City.

Commissioners' terms expire one each year and Robinson's term will expire next year.

Ehrhart's term expired last week at the same time as the reorganization meeting.

Ehrhart was reappointed the same day by Victor Canty, chairman of the St. Clair County Board, although it was made without a concurrence vote by the county board.

The appointment gave Ehrhart an opportunity to participate in the reorganization voting.

Fatal fire

Earl Owen Humphrey, 37, of 2035a Sixth St., East Madison, died after being overcome by smoke and heat while fighting a fire in his apartment about 4 p.m. Monday.

Mr. Humphrey's brother-in-law and sister, Ray and Jenny Huey, who reside on the first floor of the two-story frame house, said they heard Mr. Humphrey stomping on the floor about 3:50 p.m. Monday, but did not investigate until they smelled smoke a few minutes later.

They said they heard Mr. Humphrey moving around, but he did not answer the door. Huey broke the door down and

Who will develop an industrial park in the southwest corner of the St. Louis Area Support Center (Granite City Army Installation)?

The answer is still unknown, but an extra five weeks have been granted for discussion of the topic by four local governmental bodies.

Instead of the original deadline of tomorrow, Dec. 14, the target date has been changed to Friday, Jan. 18, 1980.

By then, the U. S. General Services Administration hopes to be notified whether Granite City, Madison, Venice or the Tri-City Regional Port will be the agency that will try to develop the 276-acre tract—and, not incidentally, purchase it from Uncle Sam for $2,980,000.

Officials of those governmental entities reviewed the issue again Wednesday morning, after having tackled it in a conference Saturday, Dec. 8.

Last weekend, several different alternatives for industrial park development were considered. With no decision reached, these conferring agreed to meet again yesterday.

In the latest meeting, it became clear that additional time is needed to continue exploration of the various possibilities. No date was set, but further talk is planned, possibly in the Dec. 26-29 period.

"We definitely need the extra time," one official commented. The extension until Jan. 18 was authorized by Dennis R. Spearman, acting director, Real Property Division, Federal Property Resources Service.

The site consists of both open grounds and warehouse buildings. There are docks at the buildings for truck and railroad shipments, and there is access

Pontoon studies new village hall

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

The Pontoon Beach Village Board Tuesday night indicated that it plans to purchase Central Baptist Church, 3010 Highway 111, for use as a new village hall, if sufficient financing can be arranged.

At the village board's regular meeting, the Rev. Wayne Musatics of Central Baptist announced that the congregation of the church already has voted in favor of selling the building to the village with plans to construct a new church in the future on adjacent property the church owns.

While the village and the church officials indicated they have agreed on a basic price for the building, they declined to announce the price until an appraisal is completed.

A survey of the property boundaries also will be required before the sale can be finalized, the pastor said.

The board agreed to have its building committee inspect the building at 9:30 a.m. Saturday and give a recommendation to the board at its next meeting Dec. 18.

The village previously purchased a strip of land through the church property to provide a second outlet to the Quiet Valley Subdivision. Residents of that subdivision had made a temporary "short-cut" through the property for vehicles, until the church blocked access to the path.

Responding to complaints from Quiet Valley residents that a second outlet near Lilly Avenue was needed, the village negotiated with church officials and purchased the strip of land, which was then turned into a street.

A search for a new village hall was begun under the new village board president, Paul Bennett, who said he felt the village was "wasting" a great deal of money renting the present village hall on Lake Drive.

Howard Percy, St. Louis and Chicago, brother of U. S. Senator Charles Percy, was hired to attempt to arrange financing for the village to either build a new municipal hall or to purchase and remodel an existing building.

Trustee Don Rea stated, "There is no doubt in anyone's mind, we would like to buy the building. There are just several alternatives to finance it."

Bennett asked the village's finance committee to explore other means of financing the building and said Percy and the bonding company Percy represents are aware the village is attempting to buy the church building and are working on the possible sale of bonds to finance it. "If the finance committee can find another way to pay for it, so be it," he added.

A tentative contract for village officials to consider was presented to the board by Rev. Musatics for consideration. He noted there are several "blanks" in the contract, including the amount of earnest money to be put down by the village, possession and closing dates, terms and other details, "to be negotiated," the pastor said.

During Saturday's tour of the building, village officials can discuss with church officials how much earnest money the village should put down and the village board at its Dec. 18 meeting can approve the expenditure, Bennett said.

Tuesday, Dec. 18, was selected as the date for the next meeting, since the regular meeting would fall on Christmas Day, so it was moved up one week.

The two-story church building is 38 by 60 feet in size and contains 4,560 square feet of usable floor space. It also has a large porch, which is not included in the floor space figure, the pastor noted.

Village officials have openly stated that there will be no tax increase to pay for a new village hall building. A means to finance it will be found with the village's current income, they pledged.

Community as well as business leaders

Absentee leadership can be a problem for a community. And it is true that many people live in one place and spend their workdays in another, dividing the time and attention they can give to either geographic area.

But there are many examples of persons combining their careers, their residence and their volunteer efforts in a single community. Among such examples are Mark and Bonnie Goldenberg, a couple rapidly establishing a record of both business and community leadership here.

Women's Division, and the Granite City Rotary Club and Rotary Annex.

He serves on the Downtown Development Committee of the Chamber, and she is a member of the Downtown Promotion Committee of the same organization.

She is active in the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club, and he keeps his professional skills honed—he is a tax lawyer and a certified public accountant—by devoting part of each week to counseling clients on estate planning.

She formerly worked as a school teacher. He for five years worked in the tax department of the Peat, Marwick and Mitchell office in St. Louis.

Despite these diverse tasks and interests, the principal activities of both relate to their store, Boutique II by HG, 1312 Nineteenth St., located between

'Send help' signs Monday

"Send Help" cards, which are regarded as an effective deterrent against rapes and robberies of stranded motorists, will be distributed throughout the Quad-City area in Monday's (Dec. 17) Press-Record.

The sturdy, bright red reflective cards, each designed to protrude from the side window of a disabled vehicle, bear the "Send Help" slogan in large letters which can be seen from several blocks, even at night in a car's headlights.

The cards were prepared by the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and were printed with funding from Quad-City area service clubs and organizations.

Clubs which financed the project were the Granite City Breakfast and Evening Kiwanis Clubs, the Granite City Rotary Club and Madison-Venice Rotary Club, the Granite City Lions Club, the Lions and Pontoon Beach Lions.

The Granite City Noonday Optimist Club, Elks Lodge 1063, the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club, the Women's Division of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, Madison Explorer Post 104 and the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Local 1347, representing the Granite City police officers.

The cards have full instructions on the back on what to do in case one's auto becomes disabled on a highway. Motorists are asked to remain

Improvements at crossing in Madison

The Madison City Council on Tuesday evening approved a request of the Illinois Terminal Railroad Company to block Madison Avenue for more crossing improvements.

Instead of four lane traffic near the 13th Street crossing, traffic will be limited to two lanes, one in each direction. The work will commence on Monday, Dec. 17, at 8 a.m. and be completed by Friday, Dec. 21, at 4 p.m.

The southbound lanes will be closed first, with vehicular traffic shifted to the northbound lanes. The railroad will replace the existing timber crossing with prefabricated rubber crossing material. Traffic will be closed in the area overnight while the work is being done and motorists are being urged to use caution. The council approved a zoning board recommendation to grant a special use permit to Edward Trots, Trots is purchasing the Victory Tavern, 1729 Edwardsville Road. The corner tavern has been operated for 32 years by Sam Dymas and his father and grandfather. According to Dymas, a neighborhood tavern has been on that particular corner since the mid-1880s. The council went on record supporting the importance of easing federal regulation pertaining to the burning of Illinois coal and cited the economic impact these regulations are having on Southern Illinois communities. The council approved purchase of a 1980 Ford LTD station wagon in the amount of $5,757, plus trade-in, to Bo Beuckman Ford, of Collinsville. Beuckman was the only company to submit a bid.

Refresher instruction for nurses

A refresher nursing program, to be taught every Friday at Memorial Hospital by Belleville Area College, will help inactive nurses and nurses working in nursing homes to increase their knowledge of medical-surgical nursing.

Nurses may brush up on their old techniques and learn new ones in the curriculum that includes updated techniques in anatomy and physiology, cardiology, pharmacology, and a general systems review. Students receive supervised clinical time at both Memorial and St. Elizabeth's hospitals in Belleville. The refresher class will meet from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. for 14 Fridays, starting in January.

Interested nurses may register at the General Studies Office of Belleville Area College (Suite 1268). According to Jacqueline Aycock, R.N., instructor for the program, there is an acute shortage of nurses in this area. She calls the refresher course a good way for nurses to update their nursing skills to either return to active nursing or to improve patient care in nursing home facilities. Students will receive six general studies (non-transferable) credits for the course.

Window broken; woman charged

Charlotte Bennett, 22, of 403 Madison Ave., Apt. 3, Madison, was charged with the criminal damage to property and was released by Granite City police at 2:35 p.m. Tuesday on $75 cash bond. Officers arrested her at 1:20 a.m. Tuesday in front of the home of her father-in-law, Grover Riggs, 2807 Harding Blvd., after neighbors alleged someone was attempting to break into the house.

The officers alleged Mrs. Bennett was walking away from the front door when police arrived. The door glass had been broken near the lock and a screwdriver was found on the porch.

Dues lawsuit is unjustified, Healey says

Robert M. Healey, president of both the Illinois Federation of Teachers and Chicago Teachers Union, has contested a suit filed last month by Herb Phillips and four personal friends.

Healey calls it a nuisance suit filed by an ex-employee for failure to carry out assigned work duties.

"Phillips was a full-time student seeking a bachelor of arts degree while being paid for full-time work for the IFT. The suit is totally without merit and an attempt to smear me for firing Phillips," Healey said.

"The facts are that since I assumed the IFT presidency, the differentiated dues structure for CTU in which Chicagoans paid less dues was eliminated.

"The CTU pays the same dues as all other locals. The CTU pays about 54 percent of all dues paid to state organizations, and receives only five percent of the direct services provided by the IFT.

"Second, my salary and fringe benefits are provided for in a written contract under the IFT constitution, and approved by the vote of the 21-member executive board. The salary and benefits are then reported and passed on in the budget at the annual convention of the IFT.

"Phillips appealed his firing to the 21-member executive board, 17 of whom are from locals outside of Chicago, and his appeal was unanimously rejected.

"His case is now in arbitration and this suit is only the latest of a number of actions in which he has attempted to harass IFT officers and executive board members," Healey concluded.

Organ Club elects David

The Metro East Organ Club held its December meeting last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Willis, 2365 Buxton Ave.

Mrs. Frances David, president, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Bea Black, speaking for the nominating committee, presented recommendations for officers for 1980.

With no further nominations, the following were elected: President, Frank David; vice-president, Clarence Shipley; secretary, Barbara Williams; and treasurer, Mary Hartman.

Mrs. Carolyn Stearns will continue to take care of the club's scrapbook, and Mrs. Elizabeth Novacich will continue as the courtesy committee chairman.

The group decided to postpone its trip to the St. Louis Bel Air to hear a blind organist until after the Christmas season is over.

After the business meeting, a buffet supper was served and members entertained on both the piano and the organ, as well as participation in group singing.

Attending, in addition to the hosts, were Mesdames Frances David, Elizabeth Novacich, Bea Black, Barbara Williams, Mary Hartman and Celeste Johnson, and Frank David and Fred Johnson.

Dance to aid Human Growth

A Christmas dance to aid the Human Growth Foundation will take place from 9 p.m. Saturday to 1 a.m. at the VFW Hall, 2044 Washington Ave.

The public is invited to attend.

All proceeds will be contributed to the national foundation to help finance research projects seeking the cause of severe growth problems in young children.

Tickets, costing $20 per couple, will be available at the door Saturday night, or may be obtained in advance by calling 876-2628.

Dancing will be to the music of the 1950s era.

Attracting birds

By WAYNE SIEFERT
Area Horticulture Adviser

You can attract a lot of birds to your backyard or neighborhood by planting landscape shrubs that provide natural food.

Prime candidates for food as well as nesting and roosting include five kinds of berries, numerous crabapples, two species of hawthorn, autumn olive, flowering dogwood, and chokeberry.

Other plants that provide food for fall migrating birds or faithful winter residents include sumac, bayberry, pyracantha, and mulberry, and several varieties of viburnum.

You can't plant one of each and have an attractive landscape. But each has special landscape qualities and are worth the special effort to include some of them in your landscape.

The five hollies include two small evergreen trees, a deciduous tree, and two shrubs. The small evergreen trees are American Holly and Foster's Holly, both columnar trees around 12 to 15 feet tall. The deciduous tree is Possum-Haw Holly, a native small tree in Southern Illinois.

The flowering crabapples are too numerous to list, but range from a dwarf of eight feet tall to 30-foot specimens.

The hawthorns include Washington hawthorn and Winterking, both superb as small ornamental trees.

Autumn Olive is a sprawling large shrub that is often too spreading for small properties. But where it can be grown, it is extremely fruitful and attractive to birds.

Flowering dogwood, berries are so tasty that cedar waxwings and robins normally wipe out your whole crop as they migrate south in October and November. Chokeberry is an upright shrub often used as a screen or specimens in a foundation planting.

Adding these plants to your landscape will require a knowledge of the specific size and shape of each plant as well as the other seasonal qualities.

Local public libraries often have a small collection of reference books on landscape plants. Nurserymen will help you to identify these qualities if you visit their nurseries.

If Quad-Citizens need the last detail on any specific plant, they may call the Cooperative Extension Service offices in Edwardsville (654-8400) or Belleville (233-1047) for additional information.

'Y' sr. citizen Christmas trip

The Tri-City Area YMCA will sponsor a special Christmas trip to the Our Lady of the Snows "Way of Lights" on Dec. 27 from 4 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. The bus will depart from the First United Presbyterian Church parking lot on the corner of 22nd Street and Edison Avenue promptly at 4 p.m. Dec. 27.

This special Christmas trip is available to all senior citizens in the Quad-Cities. With registration available through the Retired Senior Volunteer Program office at the YMCA starting at 8 a.m. Monday, Dec. 17, a spokesman said. Seats will be available on a first come, first serve basis. Additional information may be obtained by calling the RSVP office at 876-3223 or the YMCA at 876-7200. Included in the trip will be an evening dinner at Rustio's at a cost of $5, payable at registration time.

Township helps volunteer police meet gasoline costs

BY PETE STEHMAN
Nameoki Township trustees agreed Monday night that rising gasoline prices have put a severe financial pinch on the Nameoki volunteer police department and transferred $1,000 in revenue sharing money to boost the group's finances.

families throughout the township. Trustees approved a resolution to allow for negotiations to buy or power to condemn four lots for a public park in the Cloverleaf area south of Madison.

The police department, which operates in the Miracle Manor area, had requested a transfer of up to $1,500 into its account.

The group heard Supervisor Davis warn that no township residents should have their homes connected to new sewer lines without prior approval. Davis said some new lines are being pressure tested and that the pressure testing could damage homes that tap on too early.

Group President Ron Jarrett said fuel prices almost doubled in the last year, and the group would have to reduce patrols unless it located additional funding. Jarrett said he didn't like the idea of having to reduce the patrols in the holiday season, when homes are most prone to being burglarized.

Trustees approved the $1,000 transfer from federal revenue sharing money which normally would have been used to fund Coordinated Youth Services of Pontoon Beach. That $1,200 expenditure was cancelled last year.

The volunteer police group was provided with $2,500 in township revenue sharing money at the beginning of this fiscal year.

In other action at the meeting:

Supervisor Harold Davis asked township residents to bring donations of food, clothing or cash into the township office for Christmas baskets. The baskets will be given to needy

LEW CHILDRE SPEED SPOOL REEL

The Speed Spool is the most comfortable casting reel ever made! It's a high speed reel and very light in weight. The spool is narrow and has a greater diameter. We use the centrifugal drag weight system. The spool is shallow and has a more realistic line capacity. A red line indicates how far to fill it for maximum performance. The spool starts fast and stops quick — avoiding overruns that occur when firing short range casts.

GRECIAN NIKE is presented to Sharold Yount, right, winner of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's annual Speak-Off contest, by Pauline Weir, coordinator of the Individual Development Plan program. Mrs. Yount will advance to District 14 competition in February.

Sharold Yount wins BPW Speak-Off event

Sharold Yount, 2351 Morrison Road, was declared winner of the 1979-80 Individual Development Plan Speak-Off contest, sponsored by the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club, following competition last week.

The contest took place in the Granite City offices of Illinois Bell Telephone Co. Mrs. Yount, whose award winning speech was based on the topic, "Femininity," will represent the local club in the BPW District 14 Speak-Off, scheduled Feb. 24 at the Lewis and Clark Restaurant, East Alton.

Winner at the district level will advance to state competition in April.

The Individual Development Plan (IDP) program is sponsored each year by the Granite City BPW Club.

The program involves a 16-hour course offered over an eight-week period and open to both members and non-members.

Pauline Weir, IDP coordinator, said the course is designed to assist women develop the ability to express themselves more readily and to achieve self confidence. Furthermore, Mrs. Weir explained, the program helps to build potential leaders by encouraging involvement and broadening interests.

Serving as judges for this year's speak-off were Mrs. Jo Meyer, Energy-User adviser for Illinois Power Co., and a member of the firm's speaker's bureau; Miss Eleanor Popovsky, Madison School District speech therapist; and Mrs. Charlie Vunovic, president of the Granite City Chapter, National Secretaries Association.

Mrs. Yount and her husband, Ray, are the parents of two sons, 15 and 12 years, and a daughter, 12 years old.

She also is a grandmother, having a married step-daughter with a small child.

The award winner owns and operates the Sharold Yount Baton Twirling and Dance School here and works part-time for a credit systems firm in St. Louis.

She has been a member of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club for the past year and presently is serving on the board of directors and as program chairman.

Mrs. Yount also is a member of the Amvets Auxiliary, Illinois Twirling Teachers Association, National Twirling Judges Bureau and the Contest Directors Guild.

As local club champion, Mrs. Yount was presented the white Grecian Nike award, a symbol of the National BPW Federation.

Other awards presented by Mrs. Weir went to: Pearl Wright, contest runnerup and perfect attendance; and Carol Mitchell, most improved participant (chosen by class members) and perfect attendance.

Sylvia Wright, a past BPW president, served as assistant IDP coordinator and timer for the contestants.

Also participating in the course were Rose Ezell, Diane Capps, Betty May, Charlotte Johnson and Rose Mikes.

School burglary

Items valued at more than $465 were stolen during a burglary at Niedringhaus School, 29th and State streets, between 11:30 p.m. Monday and 6:30 a.m. Tuesday.

A window to the cafeteria was forced open to gain entry. Attempts to gain entry from the cafeteria to the kitchen, including prying on the door and removing a wall grate, were unsuccessful. Every classroom was entered and the teachers' desks and filing cabinets were searched. A window to the nurse's office was broken and a $400 digital thermometer was stolen. The secretary's and principal's desks, filing cabinets and storage closets were searched and a $10 pocket calculator, $40 in cash, a $15 portable radio and an empty bank bag were stolen. A knife was found in one of the classrooms after the burglary.

HOME BURGLARIZED

Leslie Whitecotton, 1804 rear Sixth St., Madison, discovered that between 7:30 a.m. and 4:45 p.m. Tuesday his residence had been burglarized; $40 cash was taken. His two parakeets were let out of their cage and one was found dead. The parakeets were valued at $61.

7 probations in drug cases

Seven persons who have pleaded guilty in Madison County Circuit Court to drug charges have been released on probation or conditional discharge. Five of the seven were fined by the court and one also was ordered to make restitution, according to court records.

Five were arrested during a series of arrests in September which culminated in undercover drug investigation by the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois (MEGS).

Pamela Hill, 24, of the 1600 block of East 23rd Street was sentenced by Associate Judge John W. Day to serve one year of probation, to pay a $200 fine and to make $42 in restitution after she pleaded guilty to delivery of a controlled substance.

Robbie Vaughn, 21, of the 1100 block of Wanda Drive in Mitchell, was sentenced to serve six months of probation and to pay a $200 fine after pleading guilty before Judge Day to a charge of delivery of a controlled substance.

Aaron P. Graham, 25, of the 7700 block of Center St., was sentenced by Circuit Judge Victor J. Mosele to serve two years of probation and to pay a $1,800 fine after pleading guilty to the same charge. Jeff Bladdick, 20, of the 2800 block of Madison Ave., was sentenced by Judge Day to serve two years of probation and to pay a $250 fine after pleading guilty to delivery of a controlled substance.

Elizabeth Pulley, 23, of the 2200 block of Grand Ave., received a sentence of two years of probation and a $750 fine from Judge Day after pleading guilty to delivery of a substance represented to be a controlled substance.

Others sentenced in drug cases included Bryan Watts, 24, of the 2000 block of Washington Avenue, who was released by Judge Mosele on six months of conditional discharge after pleading guilty to cannabis possession. An unrelated charge of delivery of a controlled substance was dismissed.

Ron Fox of Mississippi, a former resident of Kirkpatrick Homes, was sentenced by Judge Mosele to serve one year of probation after pleading guilty to delivery of a substance represented to be a controlled substance. The delivery allegedly took place Sept. 20, 1979.

ONK'S DRIVE-IN LIQUOR IT'S QUICKER!

GC Kiwanis to take emergency training

Granite City Evening Kiwanis members and their wives are planning to take training in cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) in January.

The decision was made at the annual Christmas dinner Tuesday evening, with 30 Kiwanians and their ladies attending.

Steven Missey, safety director for St. Elizabeth Medical Center, spoke to the club, explaining dangers connected with choking and demonstrated the Heimlich method of expelling food lodged in the throat.

He noted that every restaurant is required, by Illinois law, to have someone trained to give emergency treatment for choking.

Missey also said restaurants should have a poster explaining emergency treatment of choking victims, posted for employees.

The importance of CPR training, in relation to persons having a heart attack or other problem that hinders breathing, was emphasized.

Kiwanian Mike Toundas, program chairman, said that after listening to the speaker the club felt a need to become better informed in the emergency treatment methods.

KEYS ARE STOLEN

A set of keys was stolen from the kitchen table at the home of Caroline Cotter, 2436 Kilarney Drive, it was reported Monday. The victim said she left her home's door unlocked while she visited next door and when she returned, the keys were gone.

saw Mr. Humphrey fighting a fire with a fire extinguisher.

Mr. Humphrey yelled for them to call the fire department, saying, "The house is burning down," the Hueys related.

They called the Madison Volunteer Fire Department and firemen and Madison police arrived at 3:36 p.m.

The firemen said they found Mr. Humphrey on the living room floor near a broken window, without signs of life. He had severe burns to his face and arms, although the room he was in did not appear to have been the scene of extensive flames. Authorities noted blisters on his feet from trying to stomp out the fire.

Madison County Deputy Coroner Dick Mizell pronounced him dead at 4:30 p.m. and listed the preliminary cause of death as smoke inhalation.

Mrs. Huey said her brother often smoked in bed and had accidentally started several fires before, but none were serious.

Authorities said the house was filled with smoke and there was considerable smoke and fire damage to house.

Fifteen Madison firemen operating hoses from two pumps fought the blaze until 5:30 p.m. Assistant Fire Chief Charles Voloski sustained minor injuries when an oxygen tank strapped to his back exploded and he was pushed by the explosion into the house.

He was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center for bumps and bruises, and was released.

The official cause of the fire is not known and an investigation is under way. No damage estimates have been prepared, Fire Chief Eldon Rhoads said.

Mr. Humphrey was born in Williamson, Iowa, and had resided in the Quad-Cities for nine years.

He worked as a teletype operator for the Kansas City, Mo., Transit Co. for 10 years before he retired 20 years ago.

Mr. Humphrey was a World War II veteran.

Survivors include two brothers, Donald E. Humphrey, Venice, and Billy R. Humphrey, Allamont Springs, Fla.; three sisters, Mrs. James (Mary) Steel and Mrs. Huey, both of Madison, and Mrs. Eugene (Betty) Forshee, Granite City.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column. Services are planned for 1 p.m. today in Madison.

FATAL FIRE at 2035 Sixth St., East Madison, claimed the life of Earl O. Humphrey, 57, an occupant of the second floor. Smoke damage can be seen from the second floor bedroom window where the fire originated. Mr. Humphrey attempted to extinguish the fire himself, but was overcome by the smoke and heat.

Further phone tax reduction

The federal excise tax on telephone service will drop from its present three percent rate to two percent on Jan. 1, 1980.

This is a further step in the gradual phaseout of the tax — which is being reduced one percentage point per year and will cease to apply after 1981.

Congress first imposed the excise tax on a limited basis during World War I. Although repealed briefly after the war, it was reinstated during the Depression and has continued since then on a more extensive basis.

During the 1940s and 1950s, the rate was as high as 15 percent on local telephone service and 25 percent on long distance service.

From the mid-1960s until 1972, it was 10 percent on most local and long distance services. In 1973, and each subsequent year, the rate has been reduced by one percentage point.

Award contract to upgrade 20th Street crossing

The Illinois Department of Transportation has awarded road improvement contracts valued at $3 million for various projects throughout the state, including one in Granite City. The total value is for 17 projects on which bids were submitted during the Oct. 28 bid letting.

For upgrading the railroad grade crossing on 20th Street in Granite City, Macclair Asphalt Co., Inc., Collinsville, will be paid $22,190.

Steal cash, jewelry, bonds worth $30,450

Bonds and cash were among the items stolen in a burglary occurring between 11:40 a.m. and 12:10 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Harold Stallings, 2668 Grand Ave.

A total of 130 Series E bonds with a value of $20,000 was stolen and two certificates of deposit bonds, worth $10,000, also are gone.

Other items taken included $250 cash, a man's gold pocket watch and a woman's diamond watch, each valued at $100.

The burglar entered the dwelling through a rear door and ransacked two bedrooms, the living room and kitchen area.

The contents of drawers, dressers and cabinets were removed and thrown on the floor.

Stallings notified police this morning he had found the 130 Series E bonds beneath an accumulation of items discarded by the burglar and left in a pile on the floor.

Mail early; no added hours

People are being advised to mail early for Christmas by area postal officials.

There will be no additional hours scheduled during the holidays.

Persons in line at the 5 p.m. "closing" time will be waited on at all the area post offices, but the doors will be locked at closing time.

Voter center to be Saturday

A special voter registration period will be held Saturday, Dec. 29, at National Food Store, across from the high school, from noon until 5 p.m. The session will be part of a month-long series of such special centers but will be the only one conducted during December. The remaining voting centers will be held during January.

Charges follow chase

Timothy F. Garner, 17, of 2458 Sheridan Ave., faces seven traffic charges after police alleged chasing his car several blocks at 1:45 a.m. Tuesday.

Officers said they first tried to stop the car to warn the driver about a minor traffic violation, but the auto sped away and a chase began, which ended at Charles Street and Hodges Avenue when Garner's auto allegedly turned right from Charles Street and struck a parked car belonging to Wayne McClelland, 2833 Hodges Ave., pushing it into another auto McClelland owns.

Garner was arrested at the accident scene and was charged with violating the stop signs on Charles Street at Sheridan and Hodges avenues and the stop sign at Jerden and Washington avenues.

He also was charged with attempting to elude police, reckless driving and two counts of speeding.

He posted his driver's license as bond and was released to his mother at 3:05 a.m. Tuesday.

National bowling 'hall of fame' planned for this area

The St. Louis architectural firm of Saunders-Thalden and Associates has been selected to design the new National Bowling Hall of Fame and Museum, it was announced by Milt Rudo, president of the Hall.

Preliminary plans for the structure at 8th and Walnut streets, St. Louis, call for 54,000 square feet at a cost of $5 million.

Rudo, who is vice president and group executive of the Brunswick Corporation, Chicago, said development of the facility is expected to take about two years after approval of designs.

He is chairman of a five-person committee which concurred in the architectural selection after a lengthy study of proposals by five St. Louis firms.

As soon as architectural and design plans are approved, a date will be set for groundbreaking on the Hall of Fame site, which is located across from the entrance to Busch Stadium and five blocks west of the Gateway Arch.

The site is being made available at no cost by a consortium that is developing a huge office complex nearby — First National Bank of St. Louis, Equitable Life Assurance Society and International Business Machines. The Hall of Fame design is subject to approval of the three site donors.

Lowell Rothchild, chairman of national fundraising for the Hall of Fame, said he considered the triangular site's donation to be the equivalent of $1 million.

Sportscenter Jack Buck

said at a press conference that St. Louis area corporations, bowlers, and bowling fans will be asked to contribute to the fund-raising drive in a campaign to be announced later.

Rudo said the structure is expected to consist of three floors of about 18,000 square feet each. Fund programs within the bowling "family" — bowlers, bowling associations, proprietors and manufacturers — have resulted in more than $2.6 million in contributions and pledges. About $3 million still remains to be raised overall.

in their cars, lock the doors, put the "Send Help" signs in the windows, and wait until police or trustworthy help arrives.

Suggestions for use of CB radios and how to remain warm safely also are included on the cards.

In other areas, including St. Louis and St. Louis County, tests and actual experience have indicated the cards are effective in attracting police and safe help quickly, while discouraging rapists and robbers from approaching a car which is so visible, due to the reflective sign and the thought that other motorists already have seen the sign.

One "Send Help" sign will be enclosed in each Press-Record on Monday and every motorist is being urged to keep the sign, fold it in half along the dotted line, and place it in their vehicle's glove compartment or under the driver's seat.

Additional cards will be distributed by the Chamber of Commerce in the near future. Sites where additional "Send Help" signs will be available will be announced in the Press-Record during the holidays.

"We are very proud we are able to provide this service to the community at no cost to the merchants, thanks to the generosity of the area service clubs and organizations," Jim Livingston, executive director of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, said this week.

He also commended members of the Chamber's Crime Prevention Committee for their help in preparing the signs and in securing non-commercial financing for the project.

"We believe we are following the main goals of the Chamber of Commerce in providing assistance to the citizens of our community without placing yet another financial burden on our businessmen. Without the unanimous support of our area's service clubs and organizations, we could not have done this," Livingston concluded.

TAKE RADIO, SOCKS

A burglar pried the front door to enter the home of Jimmie Cargill, 2909 Buxton Ave., and stole a clock radio valued at $28 and six pairs of socks worth $6, he reported at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Driver hurt on W. Pontoon

Becky A. Bader, 26, of 4328 Northaven Drive, suffered injuries at 5:05 p.m. Wednesday in a traffic accident at West Pontoon Road and Missouri Avenue when her eastbound auto and a vehicle operated by Jeffrey C. Judge, 2654 Adams St., collided. Miss Bader was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center. She had X-rays made and was treated for pains of the neck, back and jaw before being released.

Births

Births recorded at St. Elizabeth Medical Center include:

GIRLS
Mr. and Mrs. Terry Spalding, 2420 Pakview Drive, Dec. 10, Amy Nicole, seven pounds, five ounces.
Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Hughes, Belleville, Dec. 11, Melissa Lanay, seven pounds, seven ounces.

Blood drive set Monday at hospital

A one day blood drive is scheduled for Monday, Dec. 17, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center and is open to the public. The announcement was made today by a spokesman for the American Red Cross Chapter here. Those wishing to donate blood may do so from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Wiesman Room.

STRUCK BY A BUS
Mrs. Grace Papes, 46, of Box 1114, St. Thomas Road, Mitchell, was injured when she stepped from a bus and another bus bumped her leg, knocking her down Tuesday morning. She suffered abrasions to both knees, her right hand and right shoulder and was treated and X-rayed at St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 9:25 a.m. Tuesday before being released.

Faith Ave. burglary

Hazel Vaughn, 2901 Faith Ave., discovered at 7:20 p.m. Tuesday that a door to her home had been forced open and the living room and both bedrooms had been ransacked.

The burglars may have been frightened away because the television had been moved and covered with a blanket, but was left in the living room. A bedroom window had been opened from the inside and it is believed the burglars left the house hastily through that window.

Two jewelry boxes were ransacked. The only things known missing are a set of earrings and a simulated diamond necklace, with a combined value of about $25.

Ukrainian Christmas customs observed here

By FATHER NESTOR PEDELESKY
Pastor, St. Mary's Protection Ukrainian Catholic Church of the Byzantine Slovak Rite, 1312 Iowa St., Madison

Christmas, or "Rizdvo," is a glorious celebration based on customs and traditions which span vast periods of time. It is in its intricacies as well planned as a Bach fugue.

It is a celebration of the birth of Christ and comes on Jan. 6 according to the Julian calendar which the Ukrainian Church adheres to (Dec. 25, according to the Gregorian calendar), at the end of the six week penitential period (Advent), during which the faithful abstain from all forms of merrymaking and prepare spiritually through fasting, meditation, prayer, reading inspirational books and performing good works—for the coming of Christ.

The festive table is prepared by spreading a handful of hay under a richly-embroidered tablecloth, symbolizing Christ's birth in the manger. In the center of the table, a lighted candle is placed on the traditional braided bread called "kolach."

An extra place is always set for a recently deceased member of the family, in the belief that his soul visits the home on this Holy Night.

Two decorations are prominently displayed in the room: a Christmas tree whose ornaments are usually the products of skillfulness and ingenuity of the children, and a sheaf of wheat, "didukh," which is placed in the corner under the icons.

This symbol has its roots in the pre-Christian era when our ancestors worshipped the Sun god, "Dazh-bog," and brought him sacrifices of grains and fruits from the bountiful harvest of the land.

The Christmas Eve menu consists of a 12-course dinner—a reminder of the 12 Apostles who spread the food for the soul throughout the world.

The 12 dishes are meatless, since Christmas Eve is the last day of Advent, and are prepared entirely from vegetables, grains and fish.

When the first evening star appears, the meal begins with the Lord's Prayer.

The head of the household takes the first spoonful of the ritual food, "kutya" and greets the family with the traditional "Khrystos Rodyvsia" (Christ is born).

This dish is said to date back 5,000 years when wheat was first cultivated by our ancestors.

While it may appear that the serving of 12 dishes constitutes more of a feast than a fast, none of the ingredients are exotic. The dishes are the ingenious combination and lengthy preparation of a few basic ingredients: wheat or barley, poppy seed, honey, dried peas, beans, mushrooms, sauerkraut, fish, potatoes, beets, onions, oil, dried fruit and nuts.

After partaking of the "kutya," the family is served other delectable dishes: borsch with "vushka" (dumplings), "varenky," "holubtsi," various preparations of fish (baked, marinated or jellied), various vegetables, and finally a dessert of stewed fruit.

The supper ends with the whole family singing Christmas carols, one of the oldest being "Boh Predichny" (Eternal God).

The time after the Holy Supper was especially exciting for the young people, others are expressions of good young to go caroling to homes of friends and members of the parish. This practice is now denied in Ukraine by the Communist government.

The singing of Christmas carols was elevated to an art form. Many "koladky" (carols) have agricultural motifs; others are expressions of good will addressed to the head of the household and his wife, wishing them an abundant harvest, health and happiness in the New Year.

The carolers also carried a large star of Bethlehem and a miniature manger scene called "vertep." Such groups performed short skits known also as "vertep." The first part of the skit depicted the Nativity scene, and members of the cast were dressed as angels, shepherds or the three kings.

The second part of the skit was meant to amuse the audience and deal with contemporary events in the lives of the people. This art form became the precursor of modern drama.

The tradition of caroling is still observed by Ukrainians in the United States, and the generous donations which are given at this time are designated for church, charity and other worthy causes.

The Feast of Jordan, which comes on Jan. 6 in the Gregorian calendar and in the Julian calendar, brings the Christmas cycle to a close.

The evening prior to this holy day is observed in a similar manner as Christmas Eve, but with less solemnity.

The main feature of the Feast of Jordan is an impressive church service and the blessing of water commemorating the baptism of Christ in the Jordan River.

Again, carolers visit homes, singing special New Year carols, "schedrivky," several of which have been translated into English. The best known of them is "The Carol of the Bells."

Pre-Christian in origin, these New Year carols are the oldest folk poetry and songs. Their subject matter offers rich material for ethnographers.

HAND-MADE ORNAMENTS highlight a Ukrainian Christmas tree currently on display in the lobby of the First National Bank in Madison. This is the third year an ethnic tree has been on display; in 1977 there was a Polish tree, and in 1978 a Russian tree. Research is being done on various African cultures' practice of Christmas for next year. From the left are Mrs. Helen L. Kasl, Mrs. Emma Swindler and Fr. Nestor Pedesky, all from St. Mary's Protection Ukrainian Catholic Church of the Byzantine Slovak Rite, 1312 Iowa St., Madison. The ornaments and other decorations around the tree reflect the Ukrainian culture.

Delmar and Edison avenues. In conjunction with Bonnie Goldenberg's parents, Mel and Jackie Heslov, and her brother and sister-in-law, Jim and Ruth Ann Heslov, they also operate two Hillsboro stores, Boutique I and Heslov's Style Shop.

The history of the family's retail services goes back 30 years, and the local store dates back to the mid-1970s.

Boutique II has missy and junior clothing fashions, plus cosmetics and furs. It is opening a new gift department.

Free alterations and gift wrapping are provided, and the store features a large selection of attire, varied sizes, and personal contact in solving clothing and gift needs.

The Goldenbergs are proud of their store, proud of their community, and confident in its future and that of the central business district.

Their commitment and dedication are total. And they are finding that the busy whirl of retail commerce and volunteer activities can make every week different than the week before—eventful, exciting, enjoyable and meaningful.

They relish wide opportunities to serve, and are finding an abundance of such opportunities.

EDISON BURGLARY

About $120 in cash, a $175 stereo and a $16 buck knife are known missing after a burglary at the apartment of Mike DeMaree, 2141 Edison Ave., between 8:30 a.m. and 1:10 p.m. Monday. A door was forced open and the apartment was ransacked.

Lewis-Clark Pilgrimage ends; 19 groups to benefit

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

Nineteen local agencies and service groups will benefit from the unexpected dissolution of an organization whose efforts attained national recognition just a few years ago.

Mitchell Lewis and Clark Pilgrimage, Inc., a non-profit group, officially will be dissolved Dec. 31.

In preparation for the formal action, officers of the local pilgrimage group met Monday night at Mitchell School and presented gifts in excess of $11,000 to area youth organizations and churches.

Lack of interest in continuing formal pilgrimages, the accomplishment of several goals for which the group was established initially, and a decline in the central leadership, with few new people volunteering to serve, are the reasons for dissolving the group.

All of the agencies, schools and churches receiving the monetary gifts are concerned with promoting programs to benefit youth in the Mitchell area, Floyd Jordan Jr., Lewis and Clark Trail secretary and registered agent, said Wednesday.

Jordan is one of five men who constituted the first board of directors when the Mitchell Lewis and Clark Pilgrimage was incorporated under the Illinois

General Not For Profit Corporation Act on Aug. 8, 1969.

Of the original five, James C. Aldridge, who served as treasurer on the initial board, also remains active and is the current secretary-treasurer.

Representatives from each of the 19 organizations were present Monday night and received checks of varying amounts from Zane A. Miller, Lewis and Clark Pilgrimage president, and the Rev. Willard Myers, Aldridge and Jordan.

The recipients were: Salvation Army of Granite City; Tri-City Area YMCA; Cahokia Mount and Plaza Bird Councils of the Boy Scouts of America; River Bluffs Council, Girl Scouts of America; Mitchell School Activity Fund; Coordinated Youth Services; American Dancer Society; City Temple Assembly of God; Tri-City Park Tabernacle Assembly of God.

Lewis and Clark Society of America, Inc.; Mitchell Assembly of God; Mitchell United Presbyterian Church; March of Dimes Foundation; Catholic Charities; Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children; New Hope Southern Baptist Church; Faith Chapel General Baptist Church; and First Baptist Church of Mitchell.

Forty persons at Monday's meeting heard a brief history of the Mitchell Lewis and Clark Pilgrimage presented by Jordan.

The pilgrimage itself was started May 18, 1969, as a one-day hike to honor the 150th anniversary of the Lewis and Clark expedition that originated in the vicinity of the Hartford Canal, just north of Granite City.

Because of the interest shown by scouts, leaders and the Lewis and Clark Society of America, plus the need for a hiking trail in this area, the committee of Boy Scout Troop 41 of Mitchell, made the trail and pilgrimage open to scouts from all over the nation, Jordan said.

On the first pilgrimage, 261 scouts and leaders from the Cahokia Mount Council, Boy Scouts of America, hiked the trail, under a program sponsored by the Lewis and Clark Society of America. Miss Leatha Marmion, the reigning Miss Granite City in 1969, cut a ribbon to open the first pilgrimage, Jordan recalled.

Also on hand were Mrs. Peter Klunich, then president of the Lewis and Clark Society of America, who attended Monday's meeting; G. Rollin Henn, president of the Cahokia Mount Council at that time; and former Mayor Milo Culp of Wood River.

Serving as the first officers of the newly chartered corporation in August 1969 were: George Bugle, president; Freddie Haldeman, vice president; Leland Jones, recording secretary; Jordan and Aldridge.

Shortly afterward, three members were added to the board—Zane Miller, Rev. Myers and George Hays.

Jordan said the second annual pilgrimage, involving 750 scouts and leaders, was held on three different dates in 1970.

Boy Scouts hiked the trail May 16, Girl Scouts on the following day and Cub Scouts and Brownies on June 13.

In 1971, Jordan said, the old St. Elizabeth Parish Hall in Mitchell was destined for demolition by the owners—American Oil Company.

The hall was the meeting place for Boy Scout Troop 41, but was also used for Boy Scout leader training, a Webelos scouting group and the site of the first Ol' Scouters reunion.

PILGRIMAGE OFFICERS from Mitchell Lewis and Clark Pilgrimage, Inc., who presented in excess of $11,000 to representatives of 19 area youth and service agencies and church groups Monday. From left to right are the Rev. Willard Myers, board member, Floyd Jordan Jr., Trail secretary and registered agent, James C. Aldridge, secretary-treasurer, and Zane A. Miller, president.

To preserve the meeting place for Troop 41, the pilgrimage board of directors voted to purchase the building.

In July 1970, the Mitchell Lewis and Clark Pilgrimage was recognized by the National Council, Boy Scouts of America, as a historical trail.

The Lewis and Clark Pilgrimage was held each year for nine years. Last year, it was discontinued for lack of interest.

During six years of that nine-year period, a total of 8,640 girls, boys and adults hiked the 6½ miles on the dates of the traditional pilgrimage.

In addition, the hiking trail was open year-around to all youth groups and attracted more than 1,420 young people and leaders.

Jordan said that scouting groups came on a regular basis to hike the trail and camp out from such communities as Poplar Bluff and Sikeston in Missouri, and West Frankfort and Quincy, Ill., to name a few.

Fewer and fewer groups have used the trail in the last three years, he added.

When the new Chouteau Township Building was completed in October 1977, township officers made the building available to Troop 41 as a meeting place and the old Parish Hall was no longer needed, Jordan explained.

The building was sold in June 1978.

Each year, the pilgrimage organizers designed a different embroidered patch to commemorate the event.

Trading or selling the patches to complete one's collection was part of the day's fun.

Many experiences and memories of hiking trips along the Chain of Rocks Canal levee still are retained and cherished by hundreds of former Boy and Girl Scouts and their leaders.

Many of those present said it seems sad that one more summertime activity which became a traditional part of "growing up" for hundreds of children has passed from the Quad-City scene.

WOMAN BUMPS HEAD

Mrs. Patricia Springer, 31, of 35 Mikel Drive, Arlington Heights, bumped her head on the windshield of her car during an auto accident and was treated and X-rayed at St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 7:20 p.m. Tuesday before being released.

Mrs. Lane hosts Truth Circle

Truth Circle of the Niedringhaus United Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. Shirley Lane, leader, for their Christmas party, this week.

Mrs. Lane gave a story entitled "Santa Within Me" from the Reader's Digest and read the Christmas Story from the Book of Luke in the living bible.

The story of the least coin was presented by Sharon Ellebracht. Plans were made to attend the general meeting of United Methodist Women installation of officers for 1980. Members were reminded that Truth Circle is responsible for refreshments for the night of Dec. 18, for participants in the live nativity scene which will be presented on the church lawn Dec. 17, 18 and 19.

Mrs. Lane served supper to Ruby Corbett, Evelyn Hamrick, Sharon Ellebracht, Maxine Hacke, Pauline Cox, Grace Padock, Ruth Parkey, Dorothy Frohardt, Wanda Grothaus and one guest, Pearl Campbell.

4 break-ins on Rode Ave.

Four buildings at the rear of homes in the 4100 block of Rode Avenue were damaged and items valued at more than $1,000 were taken from two of them Monday night. Items valued at more than $884 were stolen from the garage of Robert Rowlett, 4116 Rode Ave., after a window to the garage was pried open.

A step ladder removed from the rear of the home of Wayne Peterson, 4115 Melrose Ave., was used to climb into the window of Rowlett's garage.

Taken were a $68 trolling motor, a $15 step ladder, a $40 battery charger and $80 battery, a $50 skill saw, two electric drills worth $40 and $20, 10 fishing rods and reels worth $239, a tackle box containing about $250 worth of fishing items, a tool box and tools and a garage can containing Christmas decorations.

A $102 bicycle also taken from the garage was recovered in a rear yard in the 4100 block of Melrose Avenue.

Roy Cross, 4117 Rode Ave., reported his garage had been entered through an unlocked door and a $150 chain saw, a $80 chain saw, a $25 electric drill and a $19 jig saw were stolen.

A door to a small storage house behind the home of Texanna Grillon, 4121 Rode Ave., was forced open, but it is not known if anything was stolen, police were told.

A door to the garage of Luther Mathenia, 4130 Rode Ave., also was pried on and damaged, but authorities do not believe entry was gained.

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD OPICH JR., who were married Oct. 6 at St. John United Church of Christ. The bride is the former Miss Nancy Durell, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Durell Sr., of Granite City.

Miss Nancy Durell and Edward Opich Jr. wed

Arrangements of yellow and gold fall flowers adorned the altar of St. John United Church of Christ as Miss Nancy Durell and Edward Opich Jr. exchanged wedding vows.

The Rev. Thomas H. Laufer, an uncle of the bride, performed the double ring ceremony on Oct. 6 at 6 p.m.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Durell of Granite City. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Opich of Maplewood, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Simpson of Granite City are the parents of the groom.

Vicky Hasty and Valerie Stevens provided the musical selections for the candlelight ceremony.

The bride chose a full length white gown fashioned with a square neckline and fitted bodice of Chantilly lace.

The dress was designed with sheer lace trimmed sleeves and a line skirt detailed with a crystal pleated panel. Her chapel length train fell into a full sweep.

She wore a mantilla veil of silk illusion bordered with Chantilly lace. Her flowers were a cascade bouquet of white silk roses and yellow stephanotis with greenery and statice.

Mat of honor was Emma Lee Chmielewski, a cousin of the bride. She wore a yellow halter-style gown of qiana with a split skirt. The bride wore identical gowns in various fall shades.

They carried bouquets of silk flowers in fall hues with leaves of gold, copper, brown and orange.

Donna Cook, a cousin of the groom, was flower girl. She wore a white Chantilly lace and organza dress with a sweetheart neckline and fitted bodice. The skirt fell into ruffle tiers.

She carried a basket of white silk roses and yellow German statice and greenery.

Rhonda Durell, a sister of the bride, and Peggy McKinnon, were candlelighters.

Best man was Dave Macios, a cousin of the groom. Groomsmen were Frank Durell Jr., a brother of the bride, Mike Gisham and Larry Opich, a brother of the groom. Junior groomsmen were Christopher Durell, a nephew of the bride.

Bob Opich, an uncle of the groom, and Tim Crook, a brother-in-law of the bride, seated the guests. A nephew of the bride, Bryan Durell, was ring bearer.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted at the Round Table Restaurant in Collinsville by the groom's parents.

The reception was held at Croation Home in Madison. Karen Durell, a sister of the bride, attended the guest book. Assisting at the reception were Sandy Durell, a sister-in-law of the bride, Carrie Durell, the bride's grandmother, Louise Shelton and Pat Laufer, an aunt of the bride.

Both the bride and groom graduated from Granite City High School North. The groom also attended West Point Academy for two years.

After a wedding trip to Tan-Tan-A resort in the Lake of the Ozarks, the couple is residing in Granite City.

Denise Sharp becomes Mrs. James Settle

First Assembly of God Church provided the setting for the Oct. 4 nuptials of Miss Denise Sharp and James E. Settle Jr.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Sharp, 44 Villa Drive. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Settle, 2146 Woodlawn Ave.

The Rev. C. Dale Edwards officiated at the double ring ceremony at 3 p.m.

Vocalists Mrs. Mary Ann Berner and Chris, Cathy and Paula Berner sang "Sunrise, Sunset," "The Wedding Song," "The Lord's Prayer," "Time In A Bottle" and "One Hand, One Heart."

They were accompanied by Mrs. Dale Edwards on the organ.

The bride selected a white silk organza gown enhanced with Italian lace on the high neckline and bishop sleeves.

The full skirt fell from an Empire waist into a chapel train. She wore a fingertip veil trimmed in matching lace and carried long stem roses.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Jeff Lerner. She wore a primrose gown designed with an Empire waist and crocheted neckline.

Bridesmaids Debbie Copeland, Leslie Childers, Cyndee Szczepanik and Vaden Raub, a sister of the bride, wore identical gowns in a wine hue. Each attendant carried a single long stem rose.

Flower girl Christy Copeland wore a long gown in a pink and wine floral design. She carried a basket of rose petals.

Mike Becker was best man. Groomsmen were Bruce Frech, Larry Hagey, Brian Preslar and Lindsay Church. Mike Copeland and Bill Hunt seated the guests.

Ring bearer was Clint Lasten, a nephew of the groom and candlelighters were Val Preslar and Julia Korte.

The rehearsal dinner and the reception were held at the VFW Hall.

The bride is a 1974 graduate of Granite City High School South and is now employed as a purchasing assistant at Ralston Purina Co. in St. Louis.

Her husband graduated from North High School in 1974 and is presently attending Washington State University. He is employed at Norfolk and Western Railroad as a track inspector.

University Women collect yule gifts

Members of the Granite City Branch of the American Association of University Women brought gaily wrapped holiday gifts to a Christmas party hosted, last week, by Mrs. Richard Branding in her home at 2439 Lynch Ave.

The gifts will be delivered by Mrs. Ruby Foster to residents of the Madison County Shelter Care Nursing Home in Edwardsville, prior to the Christmas week, it was noted.

A large decorated tree was the focal point for the seasonal gathering. The hostess was assisted in serving refreshments by Miss Frances Lynch and Mrs. Dorothy Mauley.

President Mrs. June Barton presided over the business session and Mrs. Hugh Foster reported on concerned legislative reform. Following the same line, Mrs. Donnie Calvin, called attention to petitions being circulated concerning amendment petition to reduce the size of the present general assembly of Illinois.

Members approved the Granite City Branch resolution to support the movement with several signed petitions.

Mrs. Anita Eftimoff told the group they can show approval for the U.S. congressional bill 2977 relating to domestic violence, by calling Rep. Melvin Price at 274-2290 and his secretary will register the caller's opinion.

Plans were finalized to purchase books to be donated to the children's department at the Granite City Public Library. The gift will be in memory of the late Elise Girard, a former officer and member of the group.

During the social hour Mrs. Branding sang "O Holy Night" accompanied by Mrs. Jane Kozierek at the piano. Mrs. Kozierek continued at the piano playing a program of carols with the group joining in a sing-along.

Republican Women install officers

Mrs. Vernice Walter was installed as president of the Granite City Republican Women's Club at a dinner meeting held in the Churnery Room of Burns Cafeteria, last week.

Mrs. Lois Wetton served as installing officer for Mrs. Walter and the 1980 corps of officers which includes, Edna Kohlbrecher and Gladys Newman, vice-presidents; Gladys Pape, secretary; Eva Meier, treasurer; and Louise Dutko, past president and now member of the board.

The meeting opened with prayer offered by Mrs. Meier and the pledge of allegiance was led by Roba Turner.

After dinner the retiring president, Mrs. Dutko, conducted a business session with Mrs. Meier giving the club financial report. An audit report was also read.

Correspondence was received from the Salvation Army and the Madison County Federation of Republican Women's Clubs.

Members agreed to send a donation for one light to the Salvation Army Tree of Lights.

Mrs. Walter spoke on the national and state Republican Women's organizations and Shirley Schwendeman gave a resume of candidate Philip Crane's talk at a previous meeting.

It also was reported that the Illinois State Republican Women's meeting will be March 3, in Champaign.

Mrs. Dutko, the 1979 president, and Mrs. Brenda Reese, 1979 vice-president, were extended appreciation for their work during the past year on behalf of the organization.

During the social hour Christmas cookies and punch were served by Mrs. Dutko and Mrs. Reese and each one present received a special Christmas ornament.

The next meeting is scheduled for Feb. 5, and there will not be a meeting in January, according to the club officers.

Donise Friend bride-to-be

The engagement of Miss Donise Marie Friend and Duane Stephen Georgeff is being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Friend, 1707 Elizabeth St., Madison.

Parents of the prospective groom, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Georgeff, reside at 2649 Adams St.

Miss Friend graduated from Assumption High School in 1976, and is presently employed at the First National Bank in Madison.

Her fiancé also graduated from Assumption High School, East St. Louis, in 1970 and from Blackburn College, Carlinville, Ill., in 1974. He now works at the Roadway Express in St. Louis.

Plans are being completed by the engaged couple and their families for an April 26 wedding.

Mrs. Karandjef chapter hostess

Chapter KU, P.E.O. Sisterhood members attended a yuletide party and business meeting, Tuesday, in the home of Mrs. K. H. Karandjef.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Leonard Davis.

Following the business discussions a gift exchange was held and members shared memories of the Christmas seasons or other amusing experiences.

Refreshments were served to those named and to Mesdames William Burcky, George Coolidge, Larry Dew, Elmer Gruen, Frank Kraus, David Maxton, Robert Maxwell, J. J. McCarty, Dale Mullen, Dale Rea, Wayne Robinson, Mirel Spengler and Austin Witter.

The St. Peter Choir will be singing during the evening, and other special music will include the voice of Cliff Mason, baritone, and instrumentalists Floyd Watson and Andrew Mohler, trumpeters, and Sue Rueter, flutist.

The service of lessons and carols will be led by the Interim Pastor, the Rev. Mary Miller Brueggemann. The traditional service of the evening, The public is invited to join the congregation the pastor added.

MISS DONISE FRIEND, fiancée of Duane Stephen Georgeff. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Friend, 1707 Elizabeth St., Madison, are announcing the engagement and plans for an April 26 wedding.

Christmas luncheon of St. Peter Guild

A Christmas luncheon was served to 48 members of the Afternoon Guild of St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, last week, while a record of church bells from Germany was played.

Red table covers and seasonal centerpieces adorned the tables for the annual function.

Mrs. Estelle Morken introduced the program of Christmas songs presented by the children of The Learning & Day Care Center, directed by Mrs. Betty Hiles.

Mrs. Virginia McLester, president, presided over the meeting. Mrs. Arline Brinkmeyer requested volunteers for the blood bank to be held at St. Elizabeth Church on Dec. 26, 27, and 28.

The group was reminded to bring gifts for Kinder Cottage and to assist with the "hanging of the greens" in the church.

The meeting closed with the benediction and singing of "Silent Night." There will not be any meeting in January and February, the president announced.

Christmas programs at St. Peter Church

Advent preparation has already begun at St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ with a special offering taken, on Dec. 9, for Cambodia Relief. The church school children are also involved in Christmas preparation by collecting gifts for the pre-school children at Kinder Cottage in East St. Louis, and on Dec. 23, at 7 p.m., they will present a play at St. Peter Church, 2103 Cleveland Blvd., entitled, "Once Upon A Star."

The annual Christmas Eve candlelight service will be given on Dec. 24 at 7:30 p.m. Karen Brown, the organist-choirmaster, who is new to the staff of St. Peter this year, will begin the evening with pre-service music at 7:15 p.m. including "Vom Himmel Hoch" by Pachelbel, a "Christmas Carol Medley" by Wilbur Held and "Angels from the Realm of Glory" by Fred Bock. She will also accompany soprano Deborah Miller who will sing "Gee, Bambino" by Yon and "I Wonder as I Wander" by John Niles.

The St. Peter Choir will be singing during the evening, and other special music will include the voice of Cliff Mason, baritone, and instrumentalists Floyd Watson and Andrew Mohler, trumpeters, and Sue Rueter, flutist.

Tabernacle Choir Christmas musical

The Tri-City Tabernacle Choir will sing and dramatize a contemporary Christmas Cantata "Specially for Shepherds", Sunday, Dec. 16, at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. at the church.

St. John Guild enrolls members

Two new members, Ruth Netz and Blanche Sage, were enrolled in the Evening Guild of St. John United Church of Christ, at its Christmas meeting.

President Mrs. Marcia Buenger welcomed 34 members and two guests, Marion Heidbrink and Arlene Snelson. She later conducted a business session.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by the Granite City High School South group, "Southern Express" under the direction of Mary Ann Bright, who presented a program entitled, "The Sounds of Christmas."

Table decorations and refreshments were in keeping with the holiday motif.

During the social hour gifts were exchanged and several games played. Fellowship committee for the evening included Karen Schieb, Jeri Schieb, Joan Schneider, Wilma Willard, Jane Kennerly and Doris Laboratory.

Maryville Road and Buenger Blvd.

Composer Ralph Carmichael has captured the inner emotions of Mary, Joseph, Elizabeth and Gabriel as the traditional nativity scenes unfold the story of the Birth of Jesus, the Messiah, the pastor added.

A cast of 30 will be led by Phil and Tracy Green, singing Joseph and Mary, Lonnie Manning as Gabriel, Naomi Thomas as Elizabeth. The three prophets are Randy Hildreth, Ray Smith and Alan Johnson. Two solo shepherds: Gary Ellis and Randy Hildreth and the angel solo by Reed Johnson. The production is co-directed by Ron Pennell, (drama) and Lonnie Manning (music) and choreography by Marge Pennell.

PANEL DISCUSSION

A panel will give a review of the book "The ECK - Vidya, Ancient Science of Prophecy" by Paul Twit-chell in the Whitt Realty conference room, 3700 Nameoki Road, Monday, Dec. 17, at 7:30 p.m. Various chapters of the book relate to life cycles, Golden Wisdom temples, dreams and numbers. All are welcome free of charge, a spokesman said.

Central Christian Christmas Cantata

"Sing The Joy of Christmas" by Ron Huff, will be the Christmas cantata presented at 10:45 a.m. Sunday, Dec. 16, at Central Christian Church, 2020 Johnson Road, The Rev. Dennis Rutledge, pastor, announces.

Preceding the worship hour a breakfast will be served in the fellowship hall at 9 a.m.

Christmas Sunday will be observed on Sunday, Dec. 23, with special music, songs and sermon, relating to the birth of Jesus, the minister added.

The traditional candlelight communion service is planned for 7:30 p.m. Monday, Dec. 24, Rev. Rutledge noted.

The fun will begin with the new tax New Year's Day

It's going to be a lot of fun, that Illinois sales tax reduction. And what a great time to start it—12:01 a.m. on New Year's Day. Bottled water will be classified as food, subject to a four percent tax rather than five; wine is a non-food, the state has decided, despite its food value. Band-aids will qualify for a lower tax, but not cotton swabs; food sold cold at bakeries and delicatessens, but not food sold or served hot; medicinal thermometers, but not tissues or disposable diapers; wheelchairs, crutches, artificial limbs, hearing aids, corrective eyeglasses and stretchers but not hair tonics, perfumes and lipsticks; dandruff shampoo, but not other shampoos. Check-out lines are going to be the scene of much perplexity and head scratching (with or without shampoo). And it all begins as, with noisemakers in hand, we celebrate the new year and the new decade.

Good of the patients 51-year goal of Roberta Gerke

"Her primary concern is for the patients' care, comfort and safety. She's extremely dedicated to that. She would do extraordinary things beyond normal responsibility to see that this philosophy was carried out," Executive Vice-President Ted Ellerman said at a St. Elizabeth Medical Center retirement breakfast honoring Roberta Finley Gerke for her 51 years as a nurse. "If something wasn't right, she would speak up, whether it was to one of her nurses or to the president of the medical center. We learned to trust her judgment because she had the patient's care in mind primarily. She followed the patients through their recovery at the center and through their recovery time at home. She developed a lot of relationships with patients; her dedication was that intense." The comments indicate the high regard at SEMC for "a legend in her own time," a nurse who always has striven for the ultimate in her work at the center and earlier for Dr. Robert Hill and the late Dr. E. M. Arnovitz.

Mrs. Gerke was trained as a nurse in the 1920s at the former St. Elizabeth School of Nursing, where she was taught that "the patient always comes first."

How did she become a "legend?" Well, 51 years of such service do add up to quite a record. And, as pointed out at the retirement gathering, "Besides her care for the patients and her dedication to the profession, she can be summed up as 'really just a good person.'"

Oil uncertainty requires reliance on coal, atom power

Comment by Washington Report — The House of Representatives acted wisely in rejecting, 254-138, a proposal to ban issuance of construction permits for nuclear power plants until next April 1.

Some commentators said the proposal was mostly a symbolic gesture, because the Nuclear Regulatory Commission halted issuance of such permits in the wake of the Three Mile Island accident and will not be approving and new construction before next April in any event. The vote was somewhat more than symbolic, because this step marked the first formal manifestation of congressional attitudes toward nuclear power since Three Mile Island.

There was undoubtedly much temptation for House members to try to capitalize on public concern over nuclear safety by going on record against the entire nuclear power industry.

Rep. Toby Roth (R-Wis.) told the House "it is clear that this amendment is the first step in an attempt to eliminate the nuclear power energy option." Rep. Mike McCormack (D-Wash.), considered one of the most knowledgeable members of Congress on nuclear power, declared the construction ban would "send a message to the world that this Congress really is not serious about solving our nation's energy problems."

"We need every form of energy we can get; and every bit of it as soon as possible. We do not have the luxury of choosing between energy technologies."

"We must reduce our dependence upon imported oil. The only significant sources we have, as our domestic supplies of petroleum and natural gas decline, are coal and nuclear, and we need all we can get of both."

Those words are particularly significant against the background of tensions centered in the very area on which this country is dependent for crucial amounts of crude oil.

The Electric Power Research Institute, the technological arm of the nation's electric utilities, states in its strategy plan for meeting future power needs:

"About 81 percent of electricity used in the year 2000 is expected to be generated from uranium and coal (compared with 62 percent in 1978) because domestic oil and gas will neither be sufficient nor available for generation after 1980."

That is the view that must dominate decisions on how to meet the nation's energy needs. The hour is much too late for further political posturing.

No abuse, profit on donated blood.

To the Editor:

A Dec. 2 article in a nationally produced magazine-type insert used by some newspapers was titled "Blood Money—The Honor Industry."

Featuring many quotes by Senator Richard S. Schweiker (R., Pa.) during a hearing by his Senate subcommittee, the article contains many generalities and half-truths which present Red Cross Blood Services in a negative manner.

Although this item was not distributed by your publication, I hope you will use this letter as a means to reach as much of the public as possible. Blood will continue to be available to our community as long as donors continue to give. Following are a few important items from the article.

1. "In the case of the Red Cross it is possible for them to get $143 (per unit) by charging for the various products and processing."

Such a cost would be highly unlikely but could be possible if the unit was processed into frozen red cells plus the remainder fractionated into the many blood products.

Unfortunately, such processing is expensive; but no recipient would object to these costs in order to stay alive.

Our cost recovery policies are set by committees made up of concerned and knowledgeable volunteers.

Processing fees, necessary to cover costs of collection and testing, are utilized for blood-related operations only. The article, however, implied that funds from blood fees are diverted to other Red Cross services. This is not the case.

2. Another point made by the senator is that 10 to 15 percent of donors blood is not used.

Here in our center, about 10 percent is transfused to patients. This is a result of causes such as detected disease, contamination, and outdated.

The senator mistakenly confuses these factors with wastage.

3. Still another point made in the article was that hepatitis is not an increased risk from paid donors.

Even without such a danger, Red Cross has always been opposed to any buying or selling of human tissue.

4. The mention of a joint venture between Red Cross and Baxter Travenol Laboratories to build a plasma-fractionation plant in the article was obsolete, since this project was dropped last week because of current economic conditions.

The overall implication of the article was that Red Cross and other blood collection organizations are profiteering from blood and attempting to cover it up.

This is not possible, since our finances are audited on local and national level by certified public accountants plus an audit by the United States Defense Department.

All Red Cross financial data is available to the public either by published financial reports or by request.

Blood is an important medicine needed by everyone in every community. Please encourage donors to seek out the full facts of this issue and not allow misunderstandings to cripple this program, which is vital to our community.

DEADLINE ON TAX RELIEF REQUESTS

James B. Zagel, director of the Illinois Department of Revenue, has reminded senior and disabled citizens to file for circuit breaker property tax relief for the 1978 claim year before the Dec. 31, 1979 deadline.

Circuit breaker tax rebates are designed to reduce the tax burden on Illinois citizens with annual household incomes under $10,000 who are 65 or over or who are disabled.

Grants of up to $650 and grants of between $50 and $100 are available to qualified citizens. Application forms (IL-1365) may be obtained from Illinois Department of Revenue district offices, the Illinois Department on Aging, the Lt. Governor's Senior Action Centers, area legislators' offices and various senior citizen centers.

Two charged after chase

Robert J. Fernandez, 27, of 2300 Edison Ave., and Russell "Corky" Hughes, 26, of No. 2 Lilly Ave., are being held by Madison police on charges stemming from an alleged auto theft and chase beginning at 6:15 p.m. Wednesday.

Fernandez is charged with theft of over $150 value, attempting to elude police and driving with license suspended.

Fernandez allegedly was the driver of a vehicle stolen from the 1900 block of Third Street, Madison, and belonging to Claude Moran.

Hughes, a passenger, has been charged with resisting arrest and theft. Fernandez allegedly had a pair of metal knuckles and a metal bar in his possession. The car went out of control and struck a tree while heading north on Edna Street, after turning off Highway 162.

Fernandez was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for observation at 9:16 p.m. Wednesday, after striking his head when the auto hit the tree.

Hughes allegedly tried to swing at an officer. The two men are scheduled to appear in court today.

Urges release of all hostages

By BENJAMIN L. HOOKS
Executive Director
National Association for the Advancement of Colored People

The decision of the Ayatollah Rudallah Khomeini to release black and female hostages was welcome and encouraging news.

It raises the possibility and the hope that the Ayatollah Khomeini will, in a spirit of compromise and cooperation with established conventions of international law and diplomacy, also release the other hostages.

Their families yearn for their safe return, and we plead for their immediate release.

No legitimate cause is served by an escalation of the rhetoric or drama associated with this hostage situation. Calls for vengeance and reprisals should cease.

The prospect of an Iranian trial of persons attached to a diplomatic embassy is unthinkable; the rounding-up and deportation of Iranian students in America, contrary to democratic traditions of free expression, is equally troublesome, alarming and dangerous.

All dissenters and demonstrators, regardless of their national origins, in this country have equal rights of assembly and free expression. It is not helpful to picture dissenters as traitors.

In Iran, it is time to substitute compassion in the place of passion; for the present situation in Iran is not a contest between two nations or even a contest of will between two leaders.

It is an opportunity for men of good will and moral conscience to exercise restraint and sound judgment.

Morality itself, is in grave peril. And political questions aside, the dignity and the lives of the hostages must be respected and considered paramount by the people of America and Iran.

DeRousse drafted by Cosmos

RANDY DEROUSSE

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — When Danny DeRousse answered the phone at his home here Monday, he thought someone was playing a joke. But it was no joke. It really WAS a long-distance call from New York City. And what the person on the other end of the line had to tell him was also no joke. Danny's brother had been drafted by a professional soccer team, Granite City South defense man Randy DeRousse Monday was picked by the New York Cosmos of the North American Soccer League in the first round of the amateur draft held in Tampa, Fla.

DeRousse, a senior at South, was the ninth player chosen overall in the draft and the second high school player picked. He is the first Granite City high school soccer player ever chosen by a professional team. "My brother called me at school and told me," Randy said. "I was surprised." Danny played four years at South before graduating last year and moving on the Belleville Area College. But some others weren't as surprised. Among them was DeRousse's high school coach Gene Baker. "We thought he'd be picked, but being picked so high is fantastic," he said. "It gives him a better chance at succeeding."

DeRousse was the third pick of the Cosmos in the first round. SIU-Edwardsville striker Don Ebert was their first (and the first overall). Vidal Fernandez of San Diego State was their second. Because of trades, New York had three first round picks. He played on the South team that won four straight state titles, starting on the last two.

DeRousse, 17, is also a member of the National Youth Team (the Olympic "B" Team). He will leave for Tampa Dec. 27 to take part in a game with that squad against a similar German team. It was partially because of his involvement in the national program that New York took notice.

"We got reports from all over on Randy," said Cosmos chief scout Werner Roth in a telephone interview Tuesday. "We had good reports from both the high school and national level."

Werth, who scouted DeRousse at the Illinois State Finals in Palatine last month, said aggressiveness was a key factor in the selection. "When I saw him, he was hobbled by an ankle injury, but I was still impressed," he said. "What we were most impressed with, I guess, was that he is an aggressive, attacking defender."

"But the most important factor of all was the fact that his level of skills is so advanced for a player his age."

According to Roth, American players develop at a slower rate than European or Latin-American players do. Therefore, the extra four years of college soccer are usually necessary to improve skills. Not so in DeRousse's case.

"His basic skills are excellent," said Roth. "The extra four years he can have by playing for us out of high school can make a tremendous difference in his career."

Has he decided whether or not to sign? "Not yet," DeRousse said. "I really don't have many of the facts about the whole thing yet. I've just spoken to a (Cosmos) secretary on the phone. There are a lot of things to consider, I guess."

One of those things is college soccer. DeRousse most assuredly will get college scholarship offers. However, if he signs a special amateur contract with the Cosmos, he can play for both the professional team and the Junior Olympic squad. At any rate, if he signs any type of contract with the Cosmos, they will guarantee payment of his college education.

"We will encourage Randy to get a college education," said Roth, who is not only a scout, but also player-captain for the team.

The Cosmos are one of the best known professional soccer teams, having won two "Soccer Bowl" championships in a row before being knocked off by Toronto in the playoffs this season.

They made international headlines three years ago when they signed Brazilian soccer star Pelé to a contract.

The Cosmos play their home games at the Meadowlands in New Jersey. Last season they averaged an attendance of over 31,000 per game.

"New York is probably the best-run organization in the league," said Baker. "Being chosen by them was a big plus for Randy."

DeRousse, while being the first player from South Baker has had drafted, is the third he's had overall. Two players he coached at Riverview Gardens High in Missouri were drafted and played pro soccer. One from South, Keith Gehling, tried out for and made the Wichita Wings Major Indoor Soccer team.

DeRousse feels he won't have to make a definite decision until after the school year and graduation.

"The shock still hasn't worn off," said DeRousse. "My family is really happy about it. All my teammates at South and other friends at school are too."

How does being drafted compare with winning four consecutive state championships? "I think this is an even bigger thrill," he said. "It sure happened a lot faster."

Trojans roll, 103-88

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record

MADISON — The Madison basketball Trojans led by nearly 20 points as their Tuesday night game against McKinley of St. Louis neared its end. But nobody in the crowded gym had lost interest. No one left early to beat the crowd. There was some suspense left, aside from the almost certain outcome of the game.

Although Madison's Kerwin Stanley wound up with a total of only four points in the game, he gave the crowd what it wanted to see. As he went to the free throw line with 48 seconds left in the game, the score was 96-82.

Stanley's first-free throw looped cleanly through the net, sending the crowd to its feet. But the second shot was the one they wanted to see. The 100th point, Stanley's shot was as clean as the first.

The Trojans went on to a 103-88 win.

Madison displayed an offensive balance that it has lacked in recent games. The Trojans have been relying on the sharp-shooting skills of their guards recently, especially when Morris Hughes has been absent from the line up.

But Tuesday, Madison's offense scored from everywhere on the court.

Hughes displayed his considerable talents, consistently outrebounding the front court men from McKinley.

That was no small feat. It was a mismatch in terms of bulk and height, both in favor of the Goldbugs.

"I hope I didn't hurt him," Madison coach Larry Graham said. "This was his first game back and he played an awful lot."

But even near the end of the game Hughes seemed to be fully recovered from the injury that caused him to miss Madison's game against Venice last Friday.

Despite a 15-rebounds, 23-point performance, it's difficult to single out Hughes as the Trojans' star considering his was one of many stellar displays.

Charles Claggett and Pat Hatter, Madison's long-range specialists, did as much to bust the top mark as Hughes. Claggett had 23 points and Hatter had 20.

"This is the best we've played all year," Graham said. "It was a matter of teamwork. Everybody on our team can shoot, but tonight we passed and rebounded and followed shots."

On another day in another place, the outcome may have been different. McKinley scored 88 points in a minuscule task.

The Goldbugs closed the spread to a mere four points more than once in the second half, but each time Madison came back with increased fury.

"We just did not hit the boards," McKinley coach Ray Ford said. "They (Madison) didn't play any defense, we just didn't have position inside."

But what's that they say about a good offense being the best defense?

Early on both teams let it be known there would be scoring here tonight.

The Trojans used two minutes of the game to take a 9-2 lead. But the Goldbugs drew to two points down, 9-7, two minutes later.

With three minutes left in the first quarter, the Trojans had gone back ahead 13-9. So it went until the end of the quarter. Madison led 27-19.

In the second quarter, Madison, led by Hughes, went to work under the basket. Rebounding had been roughly even in the opening period, but Madison held a clear edge now.

With Hatter and Claggett popping outside, and Hughes heating up in front, the Trojans began to pull ahead.

But Madison's rise was slowed by some opposing periphery shooting of McKinley's Robert Turner.

Turner had 26 points in the game, and more than any other Goldbug kept pace with the Trojans.

In the third quarter,

McKinley made a strong bid to bring the game close.

A technical foul called on Madison for entering a player unannounced into the game sent Turner to the free throw line where made the score 33-48 with 5:41 left in the quarter.

But as before, the Trojans rushed back out in front, despite the increased aggressiveness of McKinley.

It was finally that aggressiveness that allowed Madison to remove the suspense, aside from the 100th point, from the game.

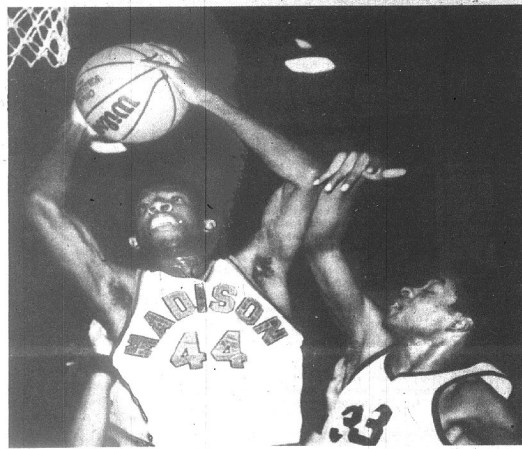

Two of the goldbugs starters collected their fifth fouls in the fourth quarter, and despite Turner's shooting, McKinley sank farther and farther behind.

"We're going to score regardless," Ford said. "But when you're giving them two sixes every time, it really doesn't matter. Especially when they're hot outside. You can't afford to give them that, second shot."

McKinley 88: Alton 2, Borneo 10, Henningway 2, Hopkins 4, Johnson 22, Mathis 2, Rogers 2, Turner 10, Turner 26. Totals 27-42-28-88.

MADISON 103: Hatter 20, Powers 12, Guest 2, Hughes 23, Claggett 23, Ebert 2, Ford 15, Stanley 4, Johnson 2. Totals 39-27-21-103.

Madison still tops 'A' poll

GRANITE CITY — The Madison basketball Trojans are still considered to be the best Class A (large school) team in the area by coaches involved in the Press Record-Collinsville Herald Basketball Poll.

Madison (4-1) garnered five of the six first place votes cast. Following wins over Venice (79-65) and McKinley of St. Louis (103-88), Madison will travel to East St. Louis Assumption Friday night for a showdown within the team that finished second in the poll.

Assumption, while it did not get any votes for first place, did get enough points for second. That's despite the fact that most area coaches don't put the Trojans in their top tier.

"They have the most

Luechtfeld's Rockets are third in the poll.

In the Class AA (large school) poll, East St. Louis senior seems to be pulling away from the pack, despite not overpowering anybody. Even though the Flyers managed narrow wins last week over Cahokia and Belleville West (by two and four points respectively), they picked eight of ten first place votes and got 98 points.

Collinsville picked up the other two top votes and is second with 87 points.

The team that is closing in on Collinsville is surprising Cahokia, which took East St. Louis to the wire Saturday night. The Comanches received 81 points. But the gap between the third team and the fourth in the poll is much wider.

Mascoutah comes in fourth — with 56 points, two ahead of fifth-place Alton and four ahead of number six East St. Louis Lincoln, which was edged by St. Louis-based power DeSmet over the weekend.

Two Gateway East Conference teams bring up the next two spots. Edwardsville is seventh with 43 and Granite City South is eighth with 27, three ahead of Belleville West — which beat South's Warriors by 11 points Saturday. Wood River moved into the top ten with 17.

As bad as the 19 point drubbing may have been, it is an improvement of sorts. Last season, the Billkens whipped SIUE by 40 points.

SIUE was led in scoring by Tom Schmidt and Scott Kabbes, who scored nine points each. St. Louis was paced by David Burns's 22 points.

St. Louis tramples Cougars

Special to the Press-Record

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis University Billkens demonstrated the difference between NCAA Division I basketball and Division II here Wednesday night.

Evidently, there is a big difference. St. Louis U., which is not exactly considered a powerhouse by any stretch of the imagination among Division I schools turned SIU-Edwardsville, an up-and-coming Division II school, every which way but loose enroute to an easy 67-48 victory at the Chabadome.

St. Louis U.'s Billkens raced out to a 37-24 halftime lead and never looked back. Bill's coach Ron Ekker used the opportunity to take a look at some of the players on his team who haven't seen much action in all, he used 13 players in the game.

Among them was Collinsville freshman Gary Kerkemeyer who did not score.

SIUE coach Jim Dudley has a young team. In fact, a good part of his team is made up of freshmen.

"Once we got down by 20 points (28-8), I called a timeout and said 'Let's go back to playing our game,'" said Dudley. "We've got a lot of young kids and we tried to control the temp of the game. We didn't execute."

What Dudley was referring to was an stretch early in the game that could

19th Holiday wrestling tourney set

GRANITE CITY — Information on the 19th annual Granite City Holiday Wrestling Tournament at GCHS South has been released.

The 16-team tournament will have four sessions during the two-day affair, Dec. 27 and 28 at Memorial Gym. Session 1 will begin at 12 p.m. Dec. 27; Session 2 at 7 p.m. Dec. 27; Session 3 at 12 p.m. Dec. 28 and Session 4 at 6 p.m. Dec. 28.

Tickets are priced at $2 per session for adults and $1 for students. Tournament passes, which are good for admission to all four sessions, are $6 for adults and $3 for children. There will be no advance ticket sales. They will be available at the doors, which open one hour before each session begins.

Teams in the tournament will be Granite City South, Granite City North, Stephen Decatur, Roxana, Pekin, East St. Louis Lincoln, Jacksonville, Wood River, Cahokia, Bloomington and Belleville East, from Illinois. Missouri teams entered will be Riverview Gardens, Ritenour, McCluer North, Hazelwood Central and Normandy.

Chiefs 4-0

GRANITE CITY — The Prather Junior High wrestlers led their record to 4-0 Tuesday with a 47-16 come-from-behind victory over Roxana.

Prather lost the first four bouts but came back to win eight of the last nine (seven by falls) to take the win.

At 75 pounds, Greg Peck was pinned in 1:23; at 82, Gary Sellers lost 16:2; 90, Jason Waggener was pinned in 2:35; 98, Dan Cochran was pinned in 4:35; 105, Steve Frees pinned his opponent in 5:40; 112, Mark Dowdy won 20:6; 119, Dan Whitsett lost

Prather cagers win

GRANITE CITY — The Prather Junior High School eighth grade basketball team got its first victory of the season here Tuesday, beating Collinsville North 35-25.

The Chiefs of Prather were led in scoring by Chuck Edgeworth who canned 17 points.

SIUE sets records

EDWARDSVILLE — The National Collegiate Athletic Association Division I soccer champions for 1979, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, (19-2-3), established five new school soccer records this year and just missed setting a couple of others.

Granite's third senior is Kevin Shemwell, who beat Mike Wilkerson, 2-0, to give the Steelers a 38-0 lead and the meet. Shemwell is now 3-1 on the season.

Granite's 115-pound sophomore, Steve Condit (2-1), was pinned by John Crutchfield at 1:14; Bill Zimmer (1-2-1), a freshman

By DOUG IRVIN for the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — With only four more dual meets scheduled before the Granite City South Holiday Tournament, the Granite North Wrestling Steelers have wrestled to a 4-1 record after whipping Parkway North here Tuesday, 44-19.

The Steelers junior varsity also won, 68-0; Rick Unger, 119 pound for the JV, scored the quickest fall — 44 seconds over Gary Crowell of Parkway.

The varsity Steelers are led by four undefeated grapplers after five meets. They are: junior Mike Robinson, 98, 5-0; sophomore Steve Smith, 105, 4-0-1; junior Jerry Miller, 112, 5-0; and senior Bob Kirgan, 126, 5-0.

In Tuesday evening's dual meet, the Granite grappler took an overwhelming 38-0 lead over the Vikings, who dropped to 0-4.

The Steelers lost four of the remaining five matches — senior Tom Nance, 167 for Granite, won his first match by pinning Kurt Kloster at the 3:17 mark. That crowd-pleaser gave Nance a 1-3 record.

At 98 pounds, Robinson was unable to pin his opponent but it didn't matter. He was, however, able to tally 24 points against Greg Shanker's five points. Smith, at 105 pounds, struck Mike Flynn in 4:38. At 112, Miller won by a fall over Keith Mueller in 3:04.

The first of Granite's four seniors to wrestle was Tracy Patton, at 119 pounds. Patton (4-1) applied a double grapevine and pinned Mike Cohen in 38 seconds. Kirgan, the Steelers' second senior, pinned Kevin Hampton at 126 pounds, at the 2:13 mark.

Junior Glenn Thompson evened his record at 2-2 by pinning Lane Ryan in 58 seconds.

Granite's third senior is Kevin Shemwell, who beat Mike Wilkerson, 2-0, to give the Steelers a 38-0 lead and the meet. Shemwell is now 3-1 on the season.

Granite's 115-pound sophomore, Steve Condit (2-1), was pinned by John Crutchfield at 1:14; Bill Zimmer (1-2-1), a freshman Steelers at 155 lost 11-2 to Bill Cohen.

Nance's pin at 167 advanced the team score to 44-10. Steel City's 185 pounder, sophomore Dave Owens (1-4) was pinned at the 2:07 mark by Kahlid Eltom.

The heavyweight bout pitted the Steelers' 1-0-3 junior Tim Wyrostek against 3-0-0 senior Bob Denek. Denek led 5-1 going into the final stanza. Wyrostek reversed, making it 5-3; Denek escaped, 6-3; and Wyrostek got another takedown, 6-5. One more second elapsed and Denek won barely.

"Our biggest disappointment was Tim's (Wyrostek) loss," said Walt Whitaker, Granite North's head coach. "Overall, I thought we did real well, though."

"Bill Zimmer (155) got a little sloppy on his feet, but he'll come around. He'll get tougher and he'll be there," said Whitaker. "It's tough getting pushed into the varsity line-up after wrestling freshman matches."

"I'm pretty well pleased with our lower weights," said the happy Whitaker. "Mike Robinson showed a lot, if he keeps improving he'll be tough. Kevin Shemwell did again near the end of his match, but he'll be there for us."

This Friday, North plays host to Parkway West. The following Monday (Dec. 17), the Steelers travel to DeMet in Creve Coeur, Mo. They host Bethalto on Friday (Dec. 21) and travel to Mount Vernon Saturday (Dec. 22) for their last dual before the Holiday Tournament.

South still leads West

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City South Warriors remained undefeated in dual wrestling meets by winning four last week, but saw their lead in the Press-Record's poll of area coaches shrink to only two points over Belleville West, also unbeaten.

South got three first place votes and 46 points compared to West's two firsts and 46 points.

Cahokia edged Granite City North for the third sport, 38-37. North is 3-1, losing only a narrow 10 point decision to West.

"West isn't as balanced up and down the lineup as they were last year," said North coach Walt Whitaker. "But their middle and upper weights catch up with you. At least that's how they beat us."

The gap between North and fifth place Roxana is 12 points. But from Roxana to sixth place Belleville East is only two points, 25-23.

Massena brings up second place with 19 points. Then comes and even bigger drop-off.

O'Fallon is eighth with

Press-Record Coaches' Wrestling Poll (First place votes in parentheses)
Team	Pts.
1. GRANITE CITY SOUTH (7)	46
2. Belleville West (2)	46
3. Cahokia	37
4. GRANITE CITY NORTH	37
5. Belleville East	25
6. Massena	23
7. O'Fallon	19
8. St. Louis	19
9. Bethalto	19
10. Lincoln	19

Receiving votes were East St. Louis Senior with eight and Bethalto with six points. Points in the poll are awarded on a descending basis (10 for a first place vote, nine for second, eight for third, seven for fourth, etc.). The poll is conducted each week by the Press-Record.

Coaches taking part in the poll include Walt Whitaker of Granite City North, Bill "Red" Schmitt of Granite City South, John Wehmeier of Belleville West, Ron Baum of Cahokia and Larry Millazzo of Roxana.

Other area teams receiving votes in this year's poll were East St. Louis Lincoln (4), Belleville Althoff (4) and Edwardsville (1).

'Granite City Connection' helping UAH soccer team

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article recently appeared in the Huntsville (Ala.) News. It was written by sportswriter Scott Lucas and concerns three Granite Cityans playing for the University of Alabama.

The evidence of the city's devotion is shown all through UAH's apartment shared by the three.

By SCOTT LUCAS
HUNTSVILLE, NEWS — Granite City, Illinois — Population: 40,000. Location: near the banks of the Mississippi River, 15 miles from St. Louis, Missouri.

Schuler, then a sophomore, recalls, "Club" (Feigl) changed in 54 seconds the fastest goal in Illinois playoff history. I was on the sidelines at the time, going absolutely crazy. We won 6-1."

Further down the same wall is a huge Confederate flag. Why a Confederate flag for three collegians from Illinois?

"In Granite City, the rivalry between Granite City South and Granite City North High is unbelievable," Fernandez, a junior fullback at UAH remarks. "The Confederate flag is a symbol for our high school. That's why it's still up."

For the Press-Record (the paper in Granite City), soccer's the big news,"

In fact, the trio played major roles in the pinning of the Granite City South High School soccer program, which last Saturday captured its fourth straight Illinois state title, and they were in the midst of the town's fever.

The evidence of the city's devotion is shown all through UAH's apartment shared by the three.

On the living room wall is an enlarged photograph of the trio, huddled together after scoring the opening goal of the 1977 Illinois high school championship game.

"I remember that goal," recalls, "Club" (Feigl) changed in 54 seconds the fastest goal in Illinois playoff history. I was on the sidelines at the time, going absolutely crazy. We won 6-1."

Further down the same wall is a huge Confederate flag. Why a Confederate flag for three collegians from Illinois?

"In Granite City, the rivalry between Granite City South and Granite City North High is unbelievable," Fernandez, a junior fullback at UAH remarks. "The Confederate flag is a symbol for our high school. That's why it's still up."

For the Press-Record (the paper in Granite City), soccer's the big news," sophomore Feigl, UAH's leading scorer this season, reflects, "It's interesting to note that the papers down here don't emphasize soccer as much."

Fernandez continues: "The devotion of Granite City people to their soccer is like that of people in the South to their football."

UAH head coach Ostop Stornicky is probably glad Granite City is on the map. Fernandez, the elder member of the trio who has been called "the most underrated player on the UAH team," has shut down opposition forwards at his defensive position. Blessed with excellent footwork, he has also spurred the Chargers' offense and scored six goals on penalty kicks.

Freshman Schuler been one of the top newcomers to the Blue-and-White striking for five goals and three assists and earning a starting role. Although he's one of the bravest members of the squad, Schuler is called "one of the quickest" by Feigl, who has competed with or against the husky freshman since they were about five years old.

Then there's Greg Feigl. Recovering from a slow start in his first six matches, the striker was dominant in his play the last half of the season, collecting 13 goals in his last 10 outings. At 6'5", Feigl's leaping ability has led to his trademark — the header. Some coaches are already touting him as All-American material.

By no means is this trio the pre-fraction of Granite City to the soccer world, however. In fact, listening to the trio, one gets the impression that half the college soccer players in the nation came from Granite City.

In the past three years, Granite City has sent one graduate to Indiana University, three to Northern Illinois, one to St. Louis University, one to South Florida, one to Western Illinois, one to Eastern Illinois, one to Dartmouth, one to Cornell, the list goes on. The total number reaches way over 30.

The trio has played together so long, "we know each other's moves," Feigl says.

Schuler's biggest adjustment to UAH soccer has been learning the styles of other Chargers players, particularly Nigerian starters like Godwin Gbenimacho and Steve Ignatius.

"They (the Nigerians) are so advanced in their soccer play," Schuler says. "They've been playing soccer for so long, they're completely refined the sport."

"Where soccer has just sprung up in the United States, in Nigeria, their culture and grandfathers were playing long ago."

Schuler adds, "It's been easy working with players like them. It's like having another coach on the field. They make the game fun to play."

If things continue in the future for the three at UAH, the Granite City newspaper will have some more press clippings.

Racquetball series planned

CHICAGO — Football season may end at the Super Bowl, but because of a new NFL Players' Association program, fans will be able to see their favorite players in action well into the summer. But instead of a football, the pro will have a racquet in hand. Three-man teams from 28 football clubs will be participating in a new NFLPA racquetball series, it was announced today in Chicago.

Regional play-offs beginning in March will be held in Los Angeles, Boston, Chicago, Miami and Dallas with the finals to be held in St. Louis in June.

South skaters lose, 5-2

ST. CHARLES — The Granite City South club hockey team lost its fourth game of the season here Monday night to St. Charles 5-2.

Even though the home team came away with the victory, things weren't settled until midway through the third period when the winning goal was scored, breaking a 3-3 tie.

St. Charles added an insurance goal later in the game.

South's first goal was scored by Rick Bicanic, his first of the season.

slammed one into the net early in the second period.

Andy Hinterser gave South the 3-3 deadlock in the second period when he scored.

South's next game will be Saturday (Dec. 15) against Hazelwood Central at 9:15 p.m. at the North County Ice Rink.

North frosh win

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City North freshman wrestling team came away with an easy 46-10 victory over Roxana here Tuesday night.

North lost only three bouts, and two of those were by forfeit because the Steelers had no wrestlers at the particular weights.

At 98 pounds, North's Rick Kash was pinned by Rich Payne of Roxana at 3:35 of their bout.

Dale Bowles of North made short work of his opponent at 105 pounds, Tim West, pinning him in 32 seconds.

Grant Widdel of North had to wait a little longer to pin his 112 pound foe—but not much. He did it to Gary Dwyer at 4:22.

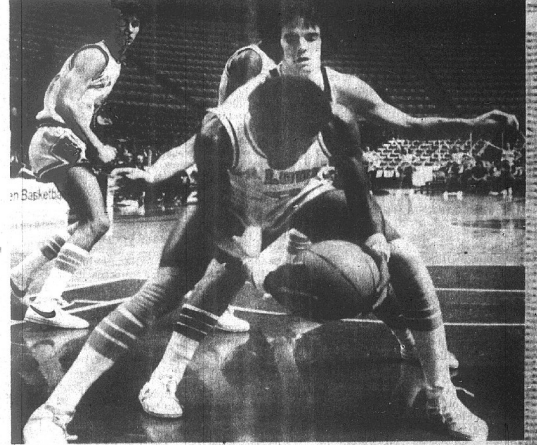

At 119 pounds, Kenny Patterson defeated Scott Corey of Roxana 5-0. At 126, Rod Unger of North won on a forfeit.

Roxana then got its other two wins when North failed to produce wrestlers at 132 and 138 pounds.

At 145 pounds, Monte Kessler of North pinned Tony Viciocchi at 1:12. Bill Zimmer of North pinned 155-pounder Scott Slayden at 1:26.

Steelers John Morris pinned Roxana's 167-pounder, Eric Platte in 1:07. There was a double forfeit at 185 pounds and North's John Kramer won the heavyweight bout on a forfeit.

The North freshmen have a 2-0 record.

Cougars finally given number one ranking

By TOM LANGE
 of the Press-Record
EDWARDSVILLE — It wasn't unanimous, but the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville soccer team still climbed atop the Intercollegiate Soccer Association of America final soccer rankings.

The Cougars, the National Collegiate Athletic Association's (NCAA) Division I national champs with a 19-2-3 record, received 16 first-place votes and a total of 352 points in claiming the top spot.

Alabama A & M, the NCAA Division II titlist, earned eight first-place votes and 336 points for the second position.

Prior to SIUE's triumphant weekend in Tampa, Fla., where the Cougars downed Penn State (2-1) and Clemson (3-2) for the NCAA crown, Alabama A & M was the nation's top-rated team, with 16 first-place votes and 347 points, compared to SIUE's six first-place votes and 332 points. The Bulldogs have been idle since defeating Eastern Illinois for the Division II title two weeks ago.

The Clemson Tigers (16-2-1) gained the No. 3 slot in the ratings, with 314 points, followed by Penn State (18-4-1) with 291.

The Nittany Lions downed sixth-ranked Columbia (14-4-1, 255 points) for third place in the NCAA tourney in Tampa.

Rounding out the top ten were: Indiana (19-2-2, 237), San Francisco (22-3-1, 212), Southern Methodist (15-2-1, 149), Rhode Island (14-4-1, 127) and Cleveland State (14-5-2, 118).

The second ten consisted of: Howard (10-2-2, 101), Hartwick (12-3-2, 96), Connecticut (19-7-3, 83), American U. (14-3-3, 49), Princeton (11-4-2, 33), Wisconsin-Milwaukee (13-3-3, 32) and Philadelphia (16-5-3, 12) and Philadelphia Textile (12-3-1, 5).

Although neither team played, Wisconsin-Milwaukee fell into a 10th-place tie with Simon-Fraser, the team that finished third in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics tournament, and SMU exchanged places with ninth-ranked Rhode Island.

St. Louis University (14-5-3) was unranked. This marks the 10th year in a row that SIUE has been rated in the final top ten.

What lies ahead

'Could have been rich' but straight-arrow sheriff won't even 'fix' traffic tickets

By PAUL SCHANKMAN
At age 65, most people are ending their careers, not starting new ones. If, per chance, they do begin again, most people would not take a job that involves dealing with prisoners, politicians and policemen, all in one day's work.

Then again, most people aren't like Sheriff Emil Toffant of Madison County.

What possesses a man after 31 years and 41 state commendations in law enforcement to suddenly spring from a serene retirement into a kettle of political fire?

"I'll tell you why I did it," said Toffant in a gruff but quiet voice. "I'm nuts."

His office is filled with photographs, awards, mementos, baseball calendars and autographed pictures of baseball players.

"There are only two things I know, baseball and law enforcement. Ask me anything you want about either one and that's fine—otherwise, don't bother me with it," he said laughing.

Toffant loves the game of baseball so much, and knows it so well, he signed on in 1974 as a scout with the Cincinnati Reds, a job he still has today. He took the scouting job shortly after returning from the Illinois State Police, his career for 25 years.

"Dynamic" was the response of the sheriff's director of administration, Erwin Knezevich, when asked to describe his boss in one word.

Toffant had persuaded Knezevich, also a former policeman, to quit his current job in industry at a substantial cut in pay and work for him.

Knezevich evaluated Toffant's record in office. "He's doing an outstanding job, because he's a professional policeman. He's energetic, always thinking."

Since Toffant took office, the business of police-work has replaced the business of politics, according to Knezevich.

Toffant said he had the backing of the people when he indicated he would take the politics out of the office if elected. However, he did not say he had the backing of all "the people."

"I was not in favor of him running at first," said Toffant's wife, Bessie. "I really tried to talk him out of it, but I just couldn't discourage him. I guess he's always been too involved."

"You just can't tell them not to do something when they love it so much, you know."

Bessie should know. She and her husband have been married 40 years and have two daughters, Nancy and Emily.

The Toffants have lived in the same house in Madison, the town where Emil was born, since 1929. He attended school in Granite City until age 14. That's when his father died and Toffant, the only son, had to start working.

He worked in St. Louis's bustling shoe industry for awhile, but like many others, soon found himself unemployed because of the depression.

In need of income and activity, Toffant entered a Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) camp, where he played semi-pro baseball well enough to be offered minor league contracts with the New York Giants and the Boston Braves. His pay would have been $70 a month.

Instead, he opted for a better paying job with American Steel Foundries in Granite City. There he worked as a foreman during the week, besides being a part-time policeman on weekends in Madison.

Eventually, the mayor asked him to become a full-time policeman. Toffant accepted the position and stayed at the job for six years, until he became a state trooper in 1950.

"As long as I can remember," Toffant said, "I always wanted to be a cop and I always wanted to go to Tulane University; don't ask me why."

Another goal of Toffant's was to attend the FBI police academy in Washington and personally receive his diploma from J. Edgar Hoover, the man Toffant considers to be the best law enforcement figure who ever lived.

In 1959, Toffant accomplished both and also became the first graduate to receive an autographed picture of Hoover, which he treasures today as much as the one of Pete Rose and himself.

"Pete's a good friend of mine," he said, digging out the photo from somewhere within the depths of a cigar box full of envelopes, carefully stored in the top of his heavy wooden desk.

Why did a retired policeman, a baseball scout and a family man become sheriff of Illinois' fifth largest county at age 65?

"If a politician never would have approached me, I never would have considered it. But I was approached by some of the best law enforcement people in this state, and these people were my friends from many of the law agencies I belong to," he said.

"I don't know," he sighed; "sometimes I regret it. Sometimes I feel like I'm not making any headway." His conversation was interrupted by a blaring police radio near his desk, but Toffant ignored its constant clamor. Instead, he glanced around the office as he spoke.

"We ran independent, you know, so that I am not responsible to one single politician, or any political machine."

Toffant recalled early in his campaign when a local reporter asked how he intended to handle the so-called Madison County politician machine.

"I said to him 'I'm gonna use you and people like you."

"If I got something the taxpayers of this county want and need, and they want me to provide it for them, and I put it before that County Board and they turn it down and I think it shouldn't be turned down, then I'm gonna call a press conference."

"I know all the reporters that I want to tell all of the people in Madison County that I put the proposals they wanted to the board, but the men they voted in office have been paid for through federal grants which Toffant has applied for."

Among the changes made since he became sheriff Dec. 1, 1978, has been the acquisition of 30 new police cars, a canine corps, and extra detectives to work weekends and holidays.

Toffant plans to seek more federal funds. More recently, Toffant has been concerned with projects for the new county jail.

Until the new jail is finished, Madison County's old jail will remain a constant headache for the sheriff's office, according to Toffant.

"It is so crowded over there, just to be confined in that antique jail over there is punishment enough. About the only thing I can provide for those people right now is good food," said Toffant.

Toffant reflected on a problem at the jail when prisoners were complaining about the food and demanded to meet with Toffant.

"I tell you, these men aren't Boy Scouts. There are some pretty rough characters over there, but I said I got to go over there." And go over there he did.

The next morning, Toffant received a letter from the leader of the inmate protest group, written neatly on a piece of yellow elementary school paper:

"Sheriff Toffant: I wanted to write and thank you for listening to our problems. I heard of a few of the many changes to take place and I, for one, am very pleased."

Very seldom do you find a person with your attitude toward persons such as ourselves. I'd like to say I respect and admire you very much. If at any time there is anything I can do for you, please ask."

Toffant said the letter is something he will long remember.

"Those people are my responsibility over there, nobody else's. I know a lot of people say they are bums; they're not bums. They're human people, don't you know? They're not gonna be there forever."

Toffant then began to speak in a grandfatherly tone. "I'll tell you, trust is everything. If you've got someone you can trust and he can trust you, brother, money can't buy that."

Unfortunately for Toffant, there is a lack of trust within the sheriff's department. Toffant describes it as a morale problem.

He said some of his men are a little afraid of him, thinking he might do something drastic.

Toffant has had several meetings with his men to try to break the barrier that separates them.

"I'll do anything in the world to help them out," said Toffant of the deputies. "My door is always open and, if I'm not here, I tell them to call my home. My number is in the book. I've never taken it out. I can't. I'm a public servant, not you know."

"But," he said with a sigh, "they still haven't come to me."

Toffant credits much of the low morale to the previous sheriff, John Maerz, and the scandal that followed him out of office. Maerz and several colleagues were found guilty Feb. 25 of bribery, extortion, accepting kickbacks and other charges.

Toffant said for a while his deputies couldn't even go into a restaurant to eat because people would give them the cold shoulder.

"It was a really bad thing—and what hurt most was that it wasn't just the little guy who was involved. It was these bosses."

Toffant said the Maerz incident made his job as sheriff twice as hard. Not only did he have to restore the confidence of his workers, he also had to restore the confidence of the people in the office.

"I wish I could do as good a job with my men as I have with the taxpayers," said Toffant.

Toffant also identified another invisible wall standing between him and some of his constituents.

"I don't fix tickets here. I've never fixed any. I never did when I was with the state cops. And I don't intend to fix any other charges."

"I got a lot of people who say, 'Gee, I don't know if I'm gonna get along with that new sheriff; he don't take care of tickets,'" said Toffant.

Sitting behind his desk, Toffant looked rather comfortable, as if his body were contoured to be there. Most of his career, however, was spent outside the office.

When he retired from the Illinois State Police in 1974, Toffant had the highest number of commendations in the state, with most coming from his early days as a member of the governor's gambling squad.

"It took almost a year-and-a-half, but, according to Toffant, he finally put on enough "heat" and broke it up. But a lot of heat was also being put on him."

Toffant recalled when his daughter came home from shopping one Saturday afternoon, driving the family's new Falcon. The daughter came in the house complaining that the car had been making funny noises on the way home.

After checking under the car, Toffant discovered the noises hadn't come from the exhaust or muffler, but rather from bullet holes in the rear of the car.

Another time, acid was thrown onto the family car as it was parked in front of their home.

And yet another time, the chairman of the state police merit board received a package with $40,000 in it and a note saying the money was his if he would get Captain Toffant transferred out of the area.

"Well, naturally, by now, my people in Springfield were getting a little worried that they were going to find me in the trunk of a car, or something, but I, eh, have had some interesting times."

His wife, Bessie, remembers those interesting times as well.

"Sometimes he'd leave home some mornings and wouldn't come home till the next day. He just enjoyed every day of it," said Bessie.

"To this day," said Bessie, "I still don't think he's told me everything."

Toffant confirmed her suspicion. "There are some things I don't want to talk about. There are things my wife doesn't know about. If she did, I wouldn't have been with the Illinois State Police for 25 years."

It is ironic that after 30 years in law enforcement, Toffant biggest compliments have come from people he helped put behind prison walls.

"One time, this prostitute came into the office and asked if there was a Captain Toffant working for the department. When she found out who I was, she came over to me and told me that when new girls came into town, she told them there was only one guy they'd have to worry about—a guy named Toffant."

That is the kind of compliment Sheriff Toffant likes.

Another compliment Toffant well remembers came during a crime committee hearing in Washington. Frank "Buster" Wortman, one of Illinois' best known gangsters, was testifying before the committee when he said, "I only know one honest cop, fellow with the Illinois State Police named Toffant."

Toffant paused for a moment, remembering those days in mobsters, massacres and underground crime.

"Sure I was scared sometimes. I don't care if you're a king-sized hero, you're gonna be afraid."

"You get in there and the first thing you start thinking about is your family. But I had a job to do and they knew I was gonna do it."

"I could have been a rich man if I had wanted to be, but I didn't let that affect my job. It's like I always told my kids, Don't ever embarrass Daddy and Daddy will never embarrass you."

When asked to consider what he might like his epitaph to read, Toffant said he hadn't given it much thought.

"I guess just the usual, although I do have this bronze plaque at home that I received when I retired from the state police. It just says that Emil Toffant was a member of the Illinois State Police."

"Maybe I should put that on there. I'm real proud of that."

But perhaps the farthest thing from this man's mind.

And a ticking parking meter ticked its last tick, signaling the end of the conversation, because everyone knows Sheriff Emil Toffant doesn't fix tickets.

Mayors challenge anti-coal policies

An "unlikely protest" will take place at Rend Lake Community College on Saturday at 10 a.m. Southern Illinois mayors representing communities from across the state will meet to vocally and forcefully protest the lack of positive action on the part of state and federal legislators and state and federal governments regarding the burning of Illinois soft coal.

The mayors say they have experienced the anguish of the recent coal mine layoffs. They have seen the families of coal miners suffer and have experienced firsthand the immediate economic setback to their communities.

They are issuing an advance challenge to their state and federal representatives and senators, insisting that they take the time to be personally present at the protest to publicly show their support for Southern Illinois communities, families and the economy.

A key element of the protest will be the signing of a declaration, calling on federal representatives to personally call on the president with a demand from the mayors to "rescue the Southern Illinois coal industry now."

The mayors seek a halt to layoffs "by reinstating the use of Illinois coal now," according to Arthur S. Mackie, mayor of Marietta, who will host the meeting. He predicts 100 mayors will attend and say the protest is a spontaneous action.

"A small group of mayors met in my office when their first layoffs occurred. We were hopping mad. Somebody said, 'Let's protest.' The idea grew and grew."

"Since then, we have been contacting other mayors. We want our people back to work. We don't want any more layoffs. "We don't want our country to suffer any longer by incurring costly costs when we could offset imports by burning Illinois coal at home. We're mad."

Several state and federal officials in jobs related to drainage and water management have been invited to a special public meeting of the sewers and drainage committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce at 2 p.m. Monday, Dec. 17, at the Granite City office of the Metro-East Sanitary District, 18th Street and Madison Avenue.

State representatives and senators representing the local area also have been invited for a general discussion of local drainage and how all agencies involved can work together so a master drainage plan can become a reality in the near future.

Wilbert Engleke, chairman of the committee, will conduct the meeting.

Browne commander of Army Support Center

A brief ceremony marked a change of command at the St. Louis Area Support Center (SLASC) in Granite City Monday in which Capt. John W. Browne Jr. succeeded Major James W. Lightfoot.

The outgoing commander has been assigned to a duty tour in Korea. The ceremony opened with Maj. Lightfoot presenting the flag to Major General Richard H. Thompson, commander, U.S. Army Troop Support and Aviation Materiel Readiness Command (TSARCOM), who in turn presented the flag to Capt. Browne, symbolic of the command passing from Maj. Lightfoot to Capt. Browne.

Major Lightfoot then went to the lectern and expressed his appreciation for cooperation he received from the various persons with whom he worked during his tour of duty here.

Capt. Browne addressed the assembly, expressing his awareness of the heavy responsibility he is assuming. He asked for the cooperation of those with whom he will be working during his tenure as commander of SLASC.

Gen. Thompson expressed his appreciation for a job well done by Maj. Lightfoot and his expectation of a "top-flight performance" on the part of Capt. Browne. He pledged his full support to the captain.

The change of command ceremony took place in the SLASC theater, with SLASC and TSARCOM military and civilian personnel in attendance.

Prior to his assignment as commander of SLASC, Capt. Browne was staff action control officer, Office of the TSARCOM, Secretary of the General Staff.

Before being assigned to TSARCOM, Capt. Browne served tours of duty with the 25th Infantry Division, the U.S. Army Depot at Long Binh, Vietnam, and Fort Bliss, Tex.

Awards earned by Capt. Browne include the Alexander W. Tate Award for Most Outstanding Second Lieutenant in the Corps of Cadets, PMC Colleges; Army Commendation Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster; Bronze Star Medal; foreign awards and a Meritorious Unit Citation.

Capt. Browne attended Pennsylvania Military College, where he obtained a bachelor of arts degree in English; Central Michigan University (Hawaii campus), where he received a master's degree in public administration, and a master's degree in industrial management; and Syracuse University, where he studied resources management.

He also attended military educational schools, taking basic and advanced quartermaster courses; and the logistics executive development course at the Army Logistics Management Center, Fort Lee, Va.

Capt. Browne has been selected for promotion to major by the Department of the Army selection board. A February promotion date is projected.

He was recently married to the former Susan Carmona of Belleville. They reside in quarters at SLASC Granite City Army Installation.

Carl Fisher dies suddenly

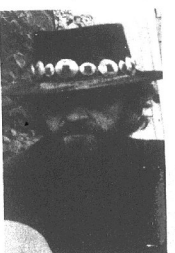

Carl E. Fisher, 41, of 701B Old Alton Road, was taken from his home by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was pronounced dead upon arrival at 9:35 a.m. Wednesday.

He became ill at work with stomach pains and returned home, a family spokesman said. He had not been ill previously and death is attributed to an apparent heart attack, according to Edward Werner, Madison County deputy coroner.

A native of Stewart County, Tenn., Mr. Fisher resided in this area for 37 years.

He had worked as a heavy equipment operator through the International Operating Engineers, Local 513, for 15 years.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Donna (McBride) Fisher; one son, Darrell

CARL E. FISHER

Fisher, Granite City; three daughters, Amanda Fisher and Bianca McBride, both of Granite City, and Renee Turner, Godfrey; one brother, John Fisher, Mitchell; and three sisters, Mrs. Dave (Annette) Marrit, South Roxana, and Mrs. Anita Keelin and Mrs. Faye Knight, both of Granite City. Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Alderman Douglas receives ticket

Granite City First Ward Alderman Charles R. Douglas, 2522 Lee Ave. is to appear in court at 9 a.m. Friday, Jan. 4, to answer a traffic citation for allegedly speeding at 46 miles per hour (mph) in a 30 mph zone at 6:55 p.m. Tuesday.

He was stopped by Venice police in an eastbound lane of Broadway on the Venice viaduct. Officers alleged he declined to sit in his car as requested by police for safety purposes, and said to the arresting officer, "If you ever come to Granite City I will arrest you. I am an alderman there."

HANDGUN IS TAKEN
Ray Lippert, 2640 Logan St., discovered at 8:45 p.m. Tuesday that his home had been burglarized and ransacked. A handgun is the only thing known missing. Holes were knocked in the walls, food was thrown on the kitchen wall, bed covers were thrown on the floor and the living room furniture was overturned.

SPRINGFIELD — "Significant" increases in Illinois snowfall over the last three years, combined with predictions that the trend will continue and increased interest in snowmobiling as a winter sport have led the Illinois state Conservation Department to add seven new state properties to its list of sites where snowmobiling is permitted.

The additions bring to 17 the number of such department of conservation sites in the state, according to Charles Tammenga, associate director for the bureau of lands and historic sites in the department.

All the new sites are south of Illinois Route 17, which formerly was the southern boundary of the department's snowmobile programs.

The newly added sites are at Lake Sangchris near Springfield, Arzyle Lake in McDonough County, Jubilee College State Park near Peoria, Sand Ridge State Forest in Mason County, Ginton Lake in DeWitt County, Ramsey Lake in Fayette County and Moraine View State Park, near Bloomington.

Many areas where snowfall rarely achieved the minimum six inches required for snowmobile use on state properties now have that much or more on the ground for much of the winter, Tammenga said.

Illinois weather, he said, were statistics showing that between '74 and '76, at most of the 17 sites the minimal six inches of snow was reached only one or two days each winter. Since then, the range has increased to between 39 and 98 days each winter, he said, adding the trend is expected to continue because of a shift in an upper atmosphere jet stream which now forces colder air into Illinois.

Among existing sites in northeastern Illinois where snowmobiles will again be permitted, Tammenga said, are Chain O'Lakes State Park which provides an access point, parking and registration office for snowmobiling on water areas only.

Illinois-Michigan Canal Parkway near Morris, where 7.5 miles on the east end of the towpath and 10 miles on the west end are open, as well as a registration office and shelter houses.

Kankakee River State Park near Bourbonnais, which has four miles of designated trails, registration area, parking, a warming house and pavilion. Tammenga urged snowmobilers interested in utilizing any of the 17 areas to call ahead since some will not be open to the sport until certain hunting seasons close.

Year in Antarctica for Wallace Manier

Navy Electronics Technician 1st Class Wallace G. Manier, son of Elmer E. and Roskey I. Manier of 712-J Old Alton Road, Granite City, has gone to McMurdo

Station, Antarctica. He is a member of the winter-over detachment of the Naval Support Force Antarctica (NSFA), based at Port Huene, Calif.

During the year at McMurdo Station, the NSFA will be participating in operation "Deep Freeze '80." This will mark the 25th consecutive year of

Navy support in Antarctica which is geared toward providing massive logistical and life-sustaining support for scientists conducting research projects sponsored by the National Science Foundation. When the summer (Southern hemisphere summer) support ends in late February, the "winter-over" contingent will remain behind to maintain McMurdo throughout the seven-month winter. This group will also prepare a runway to accommodate arrival of the next summer's support aircraft. A 1969 graduate of Granite City High School, Manier joined the Navy in July 1973.

LET'S FACE THE FACTS

St. Louis-Based daily newspapers or "throw-aways" don't do the job in the Quad Cities area. They make no attempt to serve advertisers, or the public, the way the PRESS-RECORD has for over 75 years.

We cover the Quad-Cities with 100% Paid Circulation serving 88% of Quad-Cities' residents.

Senator Charles H. Percy (R-ILL.) supported two measures to help taxpayers combat the continuing rise in inflation.

The first measure would have indexed federal tax rates to protect taxpayers from automatic tax increases caused by rising inflation. The second would have put a lid on federal taxes. Both measures failed narrowly in the Senate last week.

The first proposal, co-sponsored by Sen. Percy, would have provided cost-of-living adjustments in individual federal income tax rates and personal exemptions so that inflation would not result in tax increases.

"Inflation creates a 'hidden tax'," Percy said. "Taxpayers who receive modest cost-of-living pay raises are pushed into higher tax brackets where progressive tax rates take a larger bite of income without the workers having attained increased purchasing power."

"For every 10 percent increase in the cost-of-living, the Treasury reaps a 16.5 percent increase in revenue," Percy said. "The federal government gets a windfall in tax revenues without having to make a single change in tax policy. It is irresponsible to continue to gouge the taxpayers."

"This amendment would have tied individual tax rates and personal exemptions to inflation. The progressive tax structure would have been stabilized and certain."

The second bill would have set a ceiling on federal taxes as a percentage of Gross National Product (GNP) to be limited to 26.5 percent in the 1980-81 fiscal year, 20 percent in fiscal 1982 and 19.5 percent in 1983.

"This is the Senate's answer to Proposition 13," Percy said. "We had better listen to what the voters of California, Illinois and other states are telling us — cut taxes and cut spending."

The more rational approach we can take is to look at the GNP and simply say that we are going to mandate a limit on taxes," Percy said. "because this is the way to control spending."

The two plans which were defeated were proposed as amendments to the Crude Oil Windfall Profit Tax Act of 1979, H.R. 3919, now pending in the Senate.

Close Alton lock 3 days

The 600-foot main lock of Locks and Dam No. 26, Alton, will be closed during daylight hours for approximately three days, commencing on Monday, Dec. 17.

Closure is anticipated on Dec. 17, 18 and 19 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The closure is necessitated to accomplish repairs to a lower guidewall extension sheet pile cell.

The 360-foot auxiliary lock will remain in operation. Vessel traffic may also be intermittently locked through the 600-foot main lock, depending on the state of the contractor's repair work and as deemed appropriate by the lockmaster.

During the entire three-day period, vessels will be required to refrain from using the sheet pile cell in order to prevent damage to the construction work. Pilots and operators are to exercise extreme caution when navigating in the vicinity of the cell.

A government furnished bowboat (C. W. Rushing or Mister R) will be available to assist vessels in entering and exiting this area until all construction operations on repair of the cell are completed.

"It is requested that all vessel pilots abide by any special instructions which may be issued by the lockmaster in order to safely complete these construction activities with minimal overall delay to vessel traffic," James A. Petersen, chief, Operations Division, St. Louis Engineer District, said.

Law School building named

St. Louis University's new School of Law building will be named Morrissey Hall in honor of Joseph O. and Ida R. Morrissey, parents of Joseph C. Morrissey Jr., a 1954 law graduate who has contributed $400,000 to the law school building campaign.

The Rev. J. Barry McGannon, S.J., vice president for university development, said Monday that Morrissey has played a key role in assuring the success of the $3,150,000 law campaign. Calling the building Morrissey Hall, he said, is a tribute to Morrissey's generosity, filial respect and concern for his parents.

University Chancellor Paul C. Reinert, S.J., who disclosed the building's name, said he thought it was particularly appropriate and significant that a graduate of the School of Law should be the major individual benefactor contributing to the successful completion of the campaign.

President of the 1954 School of Law graduating class, he is the president of the Broadmoor Group, a real estate-oriented company which operates 10,000 apartment units, several shopping centers and racquet clubs along with other real estate developments in 14 states.

The new building, to be completed in late spring, 1980, is under construction at the corner of Lindell and Spring. It will provide the law school with 58,000 square feet of space and is being integrated with the existing law library.

TRUCK IS STOLEN

The 1974 Chevrolet half-ton pickup truck of Phillip Lutes, 69 Holiday Mobile Home Park, was stolen from the driveway of his home late last week. The truck is valued at $2,800, according to the owner, who said he had locked it.

Energy-efficient houses trap indoor air pollutants

Increasing levels of potentially harmful indoor air contaminants can be a consequence of energy-saving cuts in building ventilation and air intake rates, it was reported at the national meeting of the American Chemical Society in Washington, D.C.

Formaldehyde and other aldehydes, generated by occupant activities such as cooking and smoking as well as by "outgassing" from building materials, were found in some residential buildings and office trailers, in concentrations that exceeded known health effect thresholds, reported Dr. Curtis Lin of Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory, Berkeley, Calif.

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission has announced preliminary test results that indicate formaldehyde can cause nasal cancer in laboratory animals.

"Substantial savings in building energy use often can be achieved by reducing infiltration and ventilation rates," he explained.

"Since people typically spend more than 90 percent of their total time indoors, the potential deterioration of indoor air quality may have adverse effects on their health and comfort," according to a summary of the report by Dr. Lin and co-authors Roy N. Anacker, Douglas W. Anthon, Leah Z. Fanning, and Craig D. Hollowell.

The aldehyde pollutants and air exchange rates were studied in public buildings and energy efficient research houses (occupied and unoccupied) at various geographic locations in the U.S.

At low ventilation rates of 0.3 air exchanges per hour (ach) or less, the authors determined that indoor formaldehyde and aldehyde concentrations can exceed the suggested European indoor formaldehyde standard of 120 micrograms per cubic meter, about 100 parts per billion (ppb).

The outdoor concentrations were typically 20 micrograms per cubic meter (16 ppb) or less. "Formaldehyde concentrations in air samples from several new office trailers were considerably higher than outdoor levels of this pollutant, the authors say in a summary of their report. "Occupants of these units have reported odor problems."

Fairness Doctrine

The public is best served by a broadcast press that is free to report news — both good and bad — without fear of FCC intervention.

The Fairness Doctrine, however, now stands in the way of the public interest, according to Corydon B. Dunham, Executive Vice President and General Counsel, NBC, who spoke on Nov. 16 at a Princeton University Conference on The Media and the Law.

Dunham called the Fairness Doctrine "government censorship" and "a political doctrine," and added, "It has no place in a free society."

Wrestling for material

Actor-comedian Andy Kaufman, who appeared on the Oct. 20 edition of NBC's "Saturday Night Live" and challenged a female member of the studio audience to a wrestling match — offering $500 if she could pin him to the mat for the count of three — has renewed that challenge.

The woman chosen, promised Kaufman, will be

How to New York on Dec. 22 to participate in a wrestling bout on "Saturday Night Live." If the woman does manage to triumph over Kaufman, the comedian has vowed to "show my head on stage, give her $1,000, and never again wrestle a woman on television."

Carson hosts on rival station

The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences has signed Johnny Carson to be the sole master of ceremonies for the 52nd Annual Academy Awards, which will be telecast live, Monday, April 14, 1980, beginning at 9:00 p.m. EST, on ABC.

"We are thrilled that for the second year in a row, Johnny Carson will host the Academy Awards," said ABC's President of Entertainment, Anthony D. Thompson. "As one of America's premier television hosts, Johnny Carson's superb wit and enthusiasm added a unique ingredient to last year's telecast, making it a memorable evening for millions of Americans. We are delighted to see him once again host the country's most exciting awards ceremonies."

THURSDAY

Dean Martin and Shirley Jones join in some Yuletide melodies on "Dean Martin's Christmas in California," a holiday special originating from San Diego on Thursday, Dec. 13, on NBC.

(Stations reserve the right to make last-minute changes.)

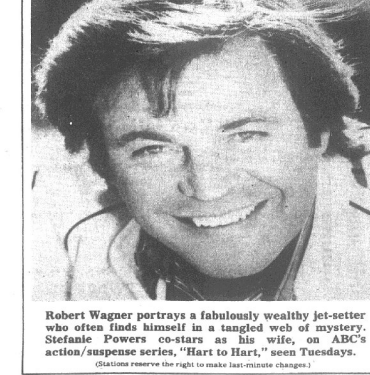

FRIDAY

(Stations reserve the right to make last-minute changes.)

TUESDAY

Robert Wagner portrays a fabulously wealthy jet-setter who often finds himself in a tangled web of mystery. Stefanie Powers co-stars as his wife, on ABC's action/suspense series, "Hart to Hart," seen Tuesdays.

IN FOCUS

Modest goals, great success

"My goals have always been modest — to be able to work as an actor and make enough to support myself and my family in a middle-class existence," Edward Asner said on the set of "The Family Man," a drama special to be broadcast Wednesday, Dec. 19, on CBS.

Asner, who also stars in "Lou Grant" on the network, is the first to admit he has far outstripped those goals. "I've gotten used to greater success,"

In "The Family Man," Asner portrays a middle-class family man, the owner of a New York City parking garage. He is satisfied with the routine of his life until he unexpectedly becomes romantically attracted to a young woman, portrayed by Meredith Baxter Binyon. Anne Jackson plays his wife.

"I came from a middle-class family in Kansas City," Asner said. "I wanted to get away from that, but I didn't take much risk. Acting was a safe adventure for me. Before I became really successful, like many actors, I worked at a variety of jobs. I think this has given me a normal man character that has helped me play roles such as this."

Asner first pursued acting at the University of Chicago. After two years in the Army, he joined the Playwright's Club in Chicago. He made his Broadway debut in "Face of a Hero." After playing a number of roles Off-Broadway, at the American and New York Shakespeare Festivals, and in stock, he moved to California.

"I would like to occasionally return to the stage," Asner said. "I didn't miss it much while I was doing 'The Mary Tyler Moore Show.' It was a three-camera show, with the thrill of having a live audience."

Looking back to that show, Asner added, "I really love it. It's funny how much more I can enjoy watching it now when I can sit back without that close, immediate involvement."

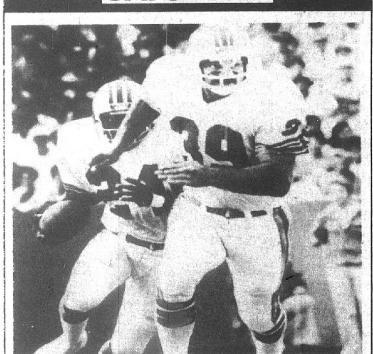

Asner is still surprised by the power of television. "When I first started on 'The Mary Tyler Moore Show,' I would sometimes visit local television stations on promotional tours. At first, station personnel would come over and whisper in my ear. 'That's our Ted Baxter.' After the show had become an established hit, the anchormen themselves would come over and introduce themselves as 'our Ted Baxter.' Now I have the same kind of response when I visit newspaper offices for 'Lou Grant.'"

Asner is a family man. In fact, he brought his family with him to Toronto, where most of the interiors for "The Family Man" were filmed.

Knowledge 'explosion' in health professions

The critical importance of the health professions to the health of the nation was emphasized by Vice Chancellor James M. Brown of the Southern Illinois University system in an address Saturday evening at the capping and pinning ceremonies of the School of Nursing at SIU at Edwardsville.

Thirty-three students who have completed their course requirements for the bachelor of science in nursing degree were honored in the ceremonies in the Communications Building theater at SIUE.

"The nation's health depends, in large measure, on the quality of our health professionals," Brown told the students. "As nurses, you must keep in mind that you are professionals."

He said it will be important for the nurses to keep current with their profession through various forms of continuing education activities, including independent study, workshops, short courses, private interaction with other health professionals and perhaps the pursuit of additional degrees or credentials.

But he cautioned that being able to look back over accomplishments and satisfaction that a job has been done well" is more important than degrees, certificates and awards.

"The reward that a true professional seeks is to keep the nation moving forward. Public service activities are central to that leadership."

"This commitment can take forms—activities in community groups, activities aimed at bettering your profession generally, or activities related to a special cause or interest," Brown said.

"Because you are professionals, you will be asked to give a part of your time to public service activities. You needn't say yes every time you are asked. But again, as you end your career and look back on your many accomplishments, there should be a personal and professional satisfaction to be had in knowing that you have contributed."

SIU is aware of the need for continuing education opportunities for professionals, the vice chancellor continued; it has made commitments particularly in the field of nursing, to provide workshops and other educational activities aimed at updating existing skills and developing new skills in specialty areas.

Drivers urged—avoid winter traffic tieups

Granite City Police Last winter's unusually severe storms graphically pointed up the extent to which the citizens of our area depend upon the free flow of traffic and emergency services.

This thought predated Granite City Chief of Police Ronald J. Veizer's comments made chiefly to motorists who became stalled and caused unnecessary traffic tieups and delays.

"Some drivers tried to get through when they didn't have a chance," the chief commented. "I realize there can be circumstances when even a tank can't bull its way through. But I am concerned about the motorists last year who were too stubborn to give up and get off the road before they got hopelessly stuck or skidded into an accident."

Veizer pointed out the results — snow-clearing operations, delayed by stalled vehicles; emergency services (fire, police, utilities and ambulances) hampered.

According to the chief, it's every driver's responsibility to be aware of the type of driving conditions he will encounter throughout the winter and to equip his car to protect his passengers and other drivers, as well as himself.

He referred to tests conducted over the years by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards and recommendations endorsed by the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

For getting started and for keeping moving, he has disclosed that conventional snow tires provide only a small improvement on glare roads, but that studded tires (where legal) develop about three times the get-up-and-go, and reinforced tire

Leukemia campaign chairman

Frank K. Spinner has been appointed general chairman of the 1980 campaign for the Metropolitan St. Louis Chapter of the Leukemia Society of America, Inc.

As chairman, he will coordinate the raising of funds for national scientific research in addition to expanding the Society's unique financial assistance program to area leukemia patients.

The major emphasis of the campaign will focus on commerce and industry, professional and special gift organizations, which occur at the successful conclusion of the Leukemia Society's residential drive. The latter raised a record $88,000 in the metropolitan area.

Spinner is chief executive officer of T. G. Bankshares and president of Tower Grove Bank and Trust Co. The Leukemia Society of America, a national voluntary health organization, has awarded more than $18,000,000 to researchers since 1949. The metropolitan chapter office is located at 1612 Big Bend Blvd., St. Louis 63117.

GCHS North band formal concert

The Granite High School North Concert Band will present the first in the 1979-80 series of four concerts on Monday, Dec. 17, in the Memorial Auditorium on the South campus at 8 p.m.

The 105-member concert band, under the direction of Robert D. Todoroff, will present a wide variety of concert band literature, including seasonal selections.

Band members will be attired in formal wear, with the boys wearing the concert band uniform of tuxedo styling and the girls dressed in colorful formals. After the hour-long concert, the band will have its concert band portrait made.

This winter concert, featuring a wide range of concert band music, will include: "Jack Tar March" by John Phillip Sousa; "Trigon," a modern composition, commissioned for the Henderson High School Band of Atlanta, Ga., by Robert Washburn; "New Freedom Overture" by S. Hasely.

"Anthem for Winds and Percussion" by Claude Smith; "Suspiros De Espana," a paso-doble by Alvarez; "Dazzling Drums," a multiple-snare drum solo, by Paul Yoder.

"A Carol Festival" based on the traditional Christmas carols, by Hawley Ades; and "Worthy is the Lamb That Was Slain" by George Frederic Handel, from "The Messiah."

Arrangements for the concert are under the auspices of the Granite City High School North Band Parents Association, headed by Harold Stoker.

Admission is by season tickets or single admission of $1 for adults and 50 cents for students at the door.

Port seeking new truck

Lack of one pickup truck is hampering operations at the Tri-City Regional Port and problems in obtaining a new truck seem likely to prolong the problem six to eight more weeks, the port board was informed during its regular meeting Monday night.

The only bid received by the board was from Bo Beuckman Ford in Collinsville, but was not accepted, since the truck would not be available for at least six weeks.

When the board agreed to advertise for bids for a new truck, it accepted a bid to sell the old truck, leaving the district short one vehicle.

The board also opened three bids for removal of snow and ice on the port roads this winter, and gave the executive director, Carl board authority to award the contract to the low bidder, as soon as calculations are completed to determine which bid is the lowest. The bids were divided into prices for equipment time and per ton for salt, cinders and gravel.

The board agreed to advertise for bids for sale of a damaged crane at the Granite City Terminal. The crane motor was damaged in a fire about three months ago, and it is not practical to repair it.

A rider to the lease of the Apex Oil Co. facility at the port was approved to replace the pump barge. The pump barge was damaged in a fire about three months ago, and it is not practical to repair it.

The rider needed board approval, since the pump barge is part of the security for the bonds the port district sold to help finance the Apex facility here.

South vocal yule concert tonight

The Granite City High School South vocal music department will present its annual Christmas concert tonight, Dec. 13, at 8 o'clock in the South auditorium.

Theme of this year's concert is "Christmas Is" and the choruses will present selections dealing with the many facets of Christmas time.

Highlighting this year's concert will be a candlelight audience sing-along of familiar carols.

The Advanced Mixed Chorus, Girls Glee Club, Contando and Southern Express Swing Choir, formerly known as the Madrigals, will present the following selections:

"It's the Most Wonderful Time of the Year," "Pat-a-Pan," "Sleigh Ride," "Still, Still, Still," "Fum, Fum, Fum," "Merry Christmas, Darling," "Ye Watchers and Ye Holy Ones," "December Child."

"While Shepherds Watched their Flocks," "Winter Wonderland," "I Saw Three Ships," "We Wish You a Merry Christmas," "Medley Christmas," "The Christmas Song," "A Jingle Bell Travelogue," "Peace Today Descends from Heaven" and "Joy to the World."

Instrumental accompaniments will be provided by members of the South band. Admission is 50 cents. Children aged five and under will be admitted free. The public is being invited to attend.

Mary Ann Bright is the director.

PEOPLE

The pre-Christmas rush has begun in earnest at Quad-City area retail establishments, and among the busier stores is Boutique II by HG, located at 1312 Nineteenth St.

Those most frequently at the store are Mark and Bonnie Goldenberg. They and their family have shown faith in the Downtown Granite City business district by purchasing the store building, and the Goldenbergs have shown their high regard for the local community by residing here, having purchased a home on Westmoreland Drive.

The store offers a wide range of clothing, accessories and services. It is one of three operated by the Heselovs, founders of the retail business, and by the second generation members of their family.

Boutique I and Heselov's Style Shop both are located in Hillsboro, Ill., 45 miles northeast of here. The six persons fill differing roles in the operation of the three stores, and most of them spend part of each week in both Granite City and Hillsboro.

"We love it here," the Goldenbergs say, and their extensive participation and leadership in Quad-City citizenship, service and fraternal organizations underscores their commitment to this community.

He is originally from East St. Louis, and she is from Hillsboro. They met while both were students at the University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana, but laughingly recall that their interest in each other did not become serious until several years after they had become acquainted. They have been married for eight and a half years.

Their business skills include not only a thorough understanding of the retail field, developed by the family over a period of years, but also considerable financial expertise. Mark Goldenberg is an attorney and from 1973 to 1978 was a member of the tax department at the St. Louis office of Peat, Marwick and Mitchell, considered to be one of the three leading accounting firms nationally.

Improved phone books distributed

Illinois Bell's new Granite City area customer telephone directory, distributed this week, features a comprehensive customer guide section that serves as a "directory within a directory." It was announced by Ken Evers, manager of the company's Granite City residence service center.

Similar customer guides will be included in 106 other Illinois Bell directories during the 1979-80 directory production cycle.

expansion of the front-of-the-book Call Guide section in previous directories.

It offers customers easier access to phone numbers of community service agencies in the Quad-Cities and contains additional information on how to reach the phone company for various service matters.

Other additions include information on charges to install and change service, more billing information, and details on the classes and comparative costs of residence service.

More material on international calling and "money-saving tips" also is included.

The customer guide is being introduced this year by all Bell System companies. It was developed by a Bell System task force, including Illinois Bell, working for more than a year with organized groups and consumer leaders throughout the country.

In the final stages of writing and design, it was pretested in August 1978 to customers of Ohio Bell in Cleveland. By a 10 to 1 margin, they said the customer guide was more attractive and easier to read than their old guide, and that information was simpler to find and easier to understand.

Illinois Bell received an equally enthusiastic reaction from a group of Chicago area consumer leaders to whom the customer guide prototype was first shown, Evers said. Changes suggested by consumers were incorporated in the customer guide introduced to Bell System companies in February.

Tax sale next week

The annual tax sale of Madison County delinquent real estate taxes will take place at 9 a.m. Monday, Dec. 17, in the Madison County Courthouse at Edwardsville.

Anyone who wishes to buy the delinquent taxes for any parcel or parcels of property in the county may bid a percentage of interest they would receive when the property owner pays the taxes.

The successful bidder (lowest interest rate) must then pay the amount of taxes due and will receive a tax certificate, which acts as a lien against the property until the owner repays it, plus the interest.

After about three years, if the taxes are not paid, the holder of the tax certificate may apply for a clear title to the property.

Madison County Treasurer Michael S. Henkhaus is in charge of the tax sale, which may last several days.

Terry Papa, chairman of the physical education department at Granite City High School North, served on a panel discussing the evaluation of co-ed physical education at the annual convention of the Illinois Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

The state meeting concluded during the weekend at the Hyatt Regency in Rosemont, Ill.

About 1,500 physical educators from most areas throughout the state attended.

Among the local educators also taking part were Ruth Noth and Dorothy Mitchell from the Granite City High School South staff and Leigh Heller, physical education coordinator for Granite City School District Nine.

Purpose of the convention was to present current trends and innovations in the field of physical education, recreation and health.

Programs focused on audio visual presentations, demonstrations involving student participants, reports of research projects and teacher participation

Fairmount pioneered night harness racing

By JOHN SCULLY

Harness racing at Fairmount Park dates back to May 21, 1948, when the sport got off to a big start, as over 10,000 fans turned out to see the standardbreds.

That first card had eight races, five for trotters and three pace events. Harness racing has progressively become a pacing dominated sport, quite the opposite of its beginnings when nearly all of the standardbreds were trotters.

Now, at Fairmount Park, you will usually see just one trot race out of the ten offered nightly. Tuesday through Saturday.

The reason for the pacer's dominance is directly related to the invention of the hobble (hobble) straps which are put around the horse's legs, which keep the horse in the pacing gait.

So when a horse has a problem staying on stride while racing, he is treated, he will just put a pair of hobbles on, and make him into a pacer.

That opening night at Fairmount Park on May 21, 1948, set many firsts:

1.) It was the first time harness racing was conducted at Fairmount Park. 2.) It was the first night program held at the Collinsville oval. 3.) It was the first mile track that raced harness races at night in the United States. 4.) The judges' stand was moved from in front of the grandstand, and placed on the roof. 5.) A new Tote Board was installed, showing win, place and show pools for the first time.

Some of the top horses in the country came to race, including 14 from California that arrived by express train. In Bob Burnes' "The Benchmark" column, he stated that harness racing would probably start slowly in fan appeal but would catch on with time.

As it turned out, it was just the opposite, because 10,000 turned opening night; however, due to several factors, harness racing lasted only two years at Fairmount Park.

The biggest reason was that many programs were cancelled due to rain which made the dirt track too slick to race over. People were used to the thoroughbred running in all types of weather and quickly became disenchanted with the frequency of the cancellations.

The absence of harness racing at Fairmount Park continued until 1966.

The first meet was shared with Cahokia Downs, as that track and Fairmount Park raced short harness seasons in the winter. This proved uneconomical for both tracks, so thereafter the harness dates were alternated between the tracks for the entire winter.

After several years of racing just three or four nights a week, it was felt it would be justified to race five nights a week in 1975, and it has been that way ever since.

The records of the 1948 meeting have been lost, but the first two-minute mile since 1866 was recorded by Duke Star Dec. 18, 1976, when she paced the mile in 1:59.4-5, with Steve Norris in the sulky.

The second two-minute mile was recorded by Brooks K Star on the final night of the 1977 season, as he paced to the current track record of 1:58.4-5, on April 8, 1977.

Glen Johnson drove the four-year-old to victory, duplicating what he had done the previous night, that of setting a track record, as on April 7, 1977, Nevele Frank topped the time at 2:01.2-5, a record for trotters. This gave Johnson the distinction of having both the pace and trot records.

Things have changed quite a bit since the 1948 meeting, which was constantly cancelling because of rain; it is now unlikely to cancel, even because of snow.

The reason for this complete turn-around is the composition of the track, which is now limestone instead of dirt. This surface has proved durable in all types of weather.

The horses have also improved, with this year's group the best ever.

Many top stables from the East Coast have shipped to Fairmount Park to complement the best horses that have raced here in the past few seasons.

What is not widely known is that Fairmount Park's purses are as good, if not better than, the majority of the harness tracks in the nation.

Fairmount Park is more widely known as a thoroughbred racing, as it has been racing thoroughbreds since 1925 here.

The thoroughbreds also have the choice dates. But harness racing actually draws better horses than the thoroughbreds.

Questions about either harness racing or thoroughbreds will be answered. Just write John Scully, Fairmount Park, Route 40, Collinsville, Ill. 62234.

Thos. Keane dies at 79

Thomas Keane, 79, of St. Louis, father of Thomas Keane, Granite City, died at 12:00 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 8, at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Mr. Keane had been a resident at Colonial Haven Nursing Home prior to being admitted to the hospital.

He was a native of Missouri. Mr. Keane was employed for 52 years as an accounting clerk for the Missouri-Pacific Railroad until he retired.

Mr. Keane was a member of St. Anthony of Padua Church and also belonged to railroad clerk brotherhood and Modern Woodmen of America.

His wife, Catherine Keane, preceded him in death.

Other survivors include sisters and brothers, Noni Fichter, Mike Keane, Mary Francis, John Keane and Francis Keane, and grandchildren.

A funeral mass was held at 9 a.m. Tuesday at St. Anthony of Padua Church, St. Louis. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, St. Louis.

'Armchair' travel

The Metro-East Institute of Lifeline Learning will sponsor an armchair travel series for senior citizens at three locations next spring, according to Clyde Fisher, assistant director in the Office of Continuing Education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Tentative locations include: MacArthur senior Citizens Center in Alton, Belleville Area College Multi-Purpose Center, and Lessie Bates Neighborhood House in East St. Louis.

The armchair travel series will give international students attending SIUE a chance to see a side of America they aren't accustomed to seeing, and area seniors will get a closer look at other world cultures from an intergenerational level.

Partially funded through a $1,595 grant from the National Association of Foreign Student Affairs, the series will consist of seven sessions, with a different country and culture represented at each session. Students will conduct the sessions, wearing native dress whenever possible, and exhibiting articles representative of their homelands, such as national currency, newspapers, flags, jewelry, slides and photographs, and musical instruments, as well as items fashioned from leather, brass, onyx, wood, paper, brocades, silks and other materials.

"In the Midwest portion of America, many citizens, especially older adults, have had little or no contact with people of other countries. The armchair travel series has the potential of acquainting them with several foreign countries in a very positive, enriching way," Fisher said.

The armchair travel program has been operated on a trial basis at the senior citizen center adjacent to the Edwardsville campus. Students from Hong Kong, Iceland, Vietnam, Taiwan, Lebanon, Thailand and Venezuela have participated in the sessions. "The response from the senior citizens was enthusiastic," Fisher said.

The trial program resulted in requests from other senior centers scattered throughout the region to have such a program scheduled for their senior citizens. The Edwardsville Center also requested that the program be repeated.

Fisher said the international students were similarly enthusiastic about the armchair travel series, many of them commenting on the warm reception received from the senior citizens.

One international student majoring in education at SIUE has become so interested in programs for older adults that he plans to incorporate such learning into his degree program at the University and into his professional plans for his homeland, Fisher said.

It is expected that between 315 and 420 senior citizens will be involved in the cultural exchange program, he said. "The armchair travel series will provide a unique experience for the foreign students in public speaking in other than their native tongue on a subject about which they are most comfortable and have the greatest expertise," Fisher said.

The people coordinating the series don't expect to run out of program material for a long time. More than 200 students from other lands are attending classes at SIUE.

Programming for the Metro-East Institute of Lifeline Learning is developed and conducted as an interinstitutional cooperative venture by the Office of Continuing Education at SIUE, Belleville Area College, Lewis and Clark Community College in Godfrey, and State community College in East St. Louis, as well as the regional chapters of the American Association of Retired Persons.

Veterans compensation payments will rise 9.9%

Checks reflecting a 9.9 percent increase in Veterans Administration compensation payments will be mailed at the end of December to more than two-and-a-quarter million veterans, 235,000 surviving spouses and more than 85,000 children of deceased veterans.

VA Administrator Max Cleland noted that the increased payments were authorized by Congress and were signed into law by President Jimmy Carter Nov. 29. They are retroactive to Oct. 1.

A separate adjustment check covering the increased amount due in November and December will be mailed during the latter part of December.

The new rates mean that a veteran with a service-connected disability rated at 10 percent will receive $48 a month, up from $44 a month.

The rate for a 50 percent disability goes from $232 monthly to $255. And a veteran with a 100 percent disability will receive $89 monthly, an increase of $80

Additional amounts increases by 9.9 percent the added amounts paid for dependents to veterans rated 30 percent or more disabled. The clothing allowance paid disabled veterans whose use of a prosthetic or orthopedic device wears out or damages clothing was increased from $218 to $240 yearly.

Also increased were the rates of Dependency and Indemnity Compensation paid survivors of veterans whose deaths were due to service-connected causes, or veterans totally disabled from service-connected causes, or veterans totally disabled from service-connected causes whose deaths were not the result of such disabilities. Certain children of the deceased veterans also receive increased compensation under the new legislation. They include unmarried children under 18, and 23 who are attending VA-approved schools.

Frostbite and exposure are wintertime hazards

SIU Medical School
Last winter, many people died of exposure to the season's bitter cold, while many more suffered injury due to the sub-zero temperatures.

Because of the severity of the last several of our winters, there is a measure of concern over the increased possibility of cold injury, namely frostbite and hypothermia, during the 1979-80 winter season.

The most vulnerable to cold injury are those who are forced to endure winter's worst.

Farmers, construction workers, policemen, and attention attendants and anyone who, by virtue of his occupation, is forced to spend a good deal of time out doors—all are good candidates for frostbite.

Frostbite occurs when body tissues actually become frozen due to prolonged exposure to below freezing temperatures or even very brief exposure to extremely cold temperatures.

Being able to recognize some of the stages which precede frostbite is one of the first steps toward preventing it.

A local burning or stinging sensation or a twinge of pain followed by numbness in the hands, feet or face usually supplies ample warning that frostbite may be occurring or about to occur.

In the first stage of frostbite, the skin may be pale but is more often red. It is in the second stage of frostbite that pain disappears and the skin assumes a grayish or whitish waxy appearance as the tissue itself actually becomes frozen.

If you or someone else becomes the victim of frostbite, seek medical attention immediately. Do not rub the affected area with snow or anything else for that matter.

If you are unable to reach medical help immediately, soak the affected area in warm water, or place the affected part next to an area of the body which is warm, such as the abdomen.

Thawing the frozen tissue produces excruciating pain but in most cases this lasts only for a short time. Medical experts generally agree that the re-warming of the affected part should take place as quickly as possible.

Some precautions against frostbite include wearing warm, multi-layered clothing and making sure that gloves, shoes and socks are not so tight as to restrict the circulation of the hands and feet.

Warm headgear is also important, not only because it helps protect the face and ears, but because most of the body's heat is lost through the head.

While frostbite can be serious, severe exposure or hypothermia is almost always a major emergency and is responsible for most of the deaths related to cold.

Hypothermia occurs when the body temperature drops drastically due to prolonged exposure. If the body temperature continues to drop, the exposure to the cold results in death.

Stranded motorists are often victims of hypothermia. Authorities advise that if you must travel in the winter months, make sure your vehicle is in good condition and that you have enough gasoline for the trip.

Heeding travelers advisory reports is also important. It may also be advisable to dress warmly and to bring along blankets and even some candy bars or other food in case you do become stranded.

And remember, if you do become stranded, do not run the engine with the windows up. The carbon monoxide emitted by your car can be just as dangerous as the cold.

If you have any specific questions concerning frostbite, hypothermia or other cold injury, write to SIU Health Facts, Southern Illinois University School of Medicine, Springfield, Ill. 62708.

Pre-Christmas pet adoptions Saturday

The Association for Protection of Animals will hold its pre-Christmas pet adoption clinic from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. Saturday at 2851 Washington Ave.

Several puppies and kittens will be offered Saturday to families and individuals willing to provide good homes, JoAnn Hommert, adoption supervisor, said this week.

Additionally, three full grown dogs are available by calling the APA at 877-4594.

The adult pets, who will not be displayed at the adoption site, include:

A 18-month-old male Daschund; a 2-year-old female Doberman Pinscher; and a part German Shepherd and husky spade female, 1-year-old.

Mrs. Hommert said the doberman is reported to be a fine watchdog and also good with children.

Pets to be offered at the clinic, include:

Three male and two female puppies, 7 weeks old, part labrador and part Irish setter; two male and two female half German Shepherd pups, 8 weeks old.

A 4-month-old English setter pup; and a 6-month-old small female dog with long black hair.

Among the cats and kittens are:

A tortoiseshell female cat, 6 months old; and a long hair calico spade female, 12 months old.

As the outside temperature gets colder, Mrs. Hommert reminds families with pets kept outdoors to make frequent checks on the animal's water supply to prevent freezing and to provide adequate shelter, especially against wind.

Courses on prisons and criminal behavior

McKendree College will offer three upper division courses at Belleville Area College during the spring semester. The courses, Law of Corrections, Research Methods and Psychology of Criminal Behavior, will partially satisfy the requirements for the Bachelor's Degree, beyond the two-year degree offered by BAC.

According to Dr. William Allen, plans call for additional courses to be offered in this cooperative program each semester.

Allen also pointed out that BAC students who lack only a few semester hours completing their associate's degree will be allowed to enroll in the capstone courses offered at the community college by McKendree concurrent with their BAC courses.

Law of Corrections, a three-hour course taught by Judy Tate, is scheduled for Tuesdays from 6 to 9 p.m. The course is a review of the law of corrections from sentencing to final release on parole. It includes prison disciplinary proceedings, isolation, rights to rehabilitation, mail, religion and the civil and criminal liabilities of prison officials. CRJ 308, Research Methods, is a three-credit course to be taught Thursdays from 6 to 9 p.m. That course is an introduction to the basic research tools of social science for the collection and analysis of data.

Psych 490, Psychology of Criminal Behavior, is a seminar dealing with the psychological dilemmas of criminal behavior. A 3-credit course, it will be taught from 6 to 9 p.m. on Wednesdays. Further information may be obtained from Dr. William Allen, law enforcement coordinator, Belleville Area College, 235-2700, extension 265 or 267.

To register in any or all of the McKendree at BAC courses, students are to contact Robert Arneson, criminal justice coordinator at McKendree College, 337-4481, extension 191. Financial assistance programs are available at McKendree College for these courses as well as for the regular on-campus curricula at McKendree.

Fence, auto damaged by hit-run car

Granite City police are searching for an auto which was involved in two hit-and-run accidents at the alley on 20th Street between Cleveland Boulevard and Delmar Avenue at 7:15 p.m. Monday.

The car first struck the fence behind the home of Dr. John Vasileff, 2008 Cleveland Blvd., destroying five fence posts, and then turned left onto 20th Street, striking a parked car belonging to Kenneth Braundmeier, 2717 Ralph St.

The hit-and-run vehicle, a white over light blue 1971 or 1972 Ford LTD or Galaxie four-door car with two people in it, then sped south on Delmar Avenue, witnesses said.

BOY HIT BY CAR

Eight-year-old Steven Brimm, 2718 W. 20th St., was struck by the car of Gerald Owens, 2634 Missouri Ave., in front of New Logan School, 2400 W. 25th Street, Monday and was treated and released from St. Elizabeth Medical Center. He suffered only minor injuries, authorities said.

At last, a gas furnace so stingy with fuel it's called the Whirlpool Tightfit™ gas furnace. And it's up to 30% more efficient than a standard Whirlpool gas furnace.*

The Tightfit furnace is packed with valuable energy-saving features. It has a penny-pinching induced draft system that is designed to squeeze more heat out of the same amount of fuel. It also has thrifty direct spark ignition instead of a costly, constantly burning pilot light. To find out exactly how much you can benefit from the Tightfit furnace call your Whirlpool heating and cooling products dealer soon.

Spotlight on domestic fuel, ties with Canada, Mexico

By ANTHONY HARRIGAN
If the United States fails to guarantee access to oil at stable prices, the result will be a permanent recession or worse.

The Report, published by the First National Bank of Chicago, presents the grim statistics on the oil import situation. It notes that "the world economic outlook has worsened considerably during 1979."

According to World Report, "Total oil bills will increase by about $50 billion over 1978 and by about $80 billion from the end of 1978 to the end of this year." By September, oil prices had risen 60 percent above their level at the end of 1978.

The overall oil import bill of the free world in 1978 amounted to about $145 billion. Price hikes announced before September would increase the oil bill to $190 billion in 1979 and $230 billion in 1980. Additional price hikes have been announced in recent weeks.

The peril in this price spiral is rampant inflation and a recession throughout the industrialized world — or "stagflation."

With colossal sums going to the OPEC cartel, the Western nations will have little money available for industrial expansion. This means that the standard of living in the free world will be seriously eroded by the exorbitant demands of the oil-producing nations.

The West is paying for its oil-pell retreat from oil-producing regions. How different the world situation would be today if France had retained control of Algeria and Britain had remained in Nigeria and the Middle East.

The emotional decolonization movement has left Europe and, indirectly, the United States in an enormously vulnerable position.

Hasty decolonization is the spilt milk of history. However, we can be sorry about the mistaken policies of the 1950s and the 1960s, but being sorry won't help us solve the problems of today and tomorrow.

Greater awareness of the crushing impact of prices imposed by the OPEC cartel ought to make the American people appreciate the necessity of the following action:

1. Encouraging domestic exploration for oil and gas with adequate financial incentives.

2. Overcoming the emotional anti-nuclear movement, and acceleration of nuclear power plant construction and licensing.

3. A moratorium on environmental protection laws that inhibit the rapid development of new surface oil mines and stepped-up utilization of coal by utilities and factories.

4. New cooperative programs with Canada and Mexico to permit an increased flow of oil and gas from our neighbors at affordable prices.

If the U.S. government fails to take these steps, the purchasing power of the American people will be transferred to the oil-exporting countries at a rapid rate. The result will be depression in the United States.

Survivors include five daughters, Mrs. Harry (Virginia) Chism of Granite City, Miss Alma Fox of Springfield, Ill., Mrs. Marcella Coffey of Washington, Mo., Mrs. Dianna Majzel of Sioux City,

James Ralph Fox, 75, dies

James Ralph Fox, 75, of 2557 Madison Ave., died at 1 a.m. Tuesday at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. He had been in ill health the last two years and was hospitalized for nine weeks.

Mr. Fox was a retired painter, having worked through Granite City Painters Local 120, AFL-CIO.

He was born in Nilwood, Ill., and had resided 20 years in the local community.

Funeral services were held Wednesday. Details are given in the obituary column.

United Way center needs winter items

The United Way Community Service Center Clothing Exchange urgently needs good, usable winter coats, shoes and jeans for school age boys and girls. It was announced Tuesday.

Items donated will be distributed, without cost, to local families and children in need.

The clothing and shoes may be taken to United Way Service Centers at 3899 Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach; 406 Madison Ave., Madison; and 1254 Niedringhaus Ave. and 2021 Edison Ave., both in Granite City.

Non-perishable food items also may be deposited at these locations, it was announced.

Such food donations will be included with other nutritional food packages distributed through the clothing, furniture and food pantry exchange.

Additional locations for depositing non-perishable food items soon will be established, it was learned.

Further information concerning the service center program may be obtained by calling the United Way Information and Referral Services at 876-2383, 877-6780 or 876-8430.

93 at Golden Agers dinner

A pre-holiday turkey and trimmings dinner was served at noon Tuesday to members of the Golden Agers Senior Citizen's Club at the Kirkpatrick Homes Recreation Center.

A total of 93 persons was present for the meal.

Welcoming remarks were offered by Mrs. Juanita Crawley, president.

The turkey and dressing entree was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Randall (Linda) Irwin.

Complementary side dishes, together with pies, cakes and coffee, were furnished by individual members.

The Rev. Marvin Peters, pastor of the First Baptist Church, offered the invocation.

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Irwin and Rev. Peters, other guests at the dinner were Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler and David Morgan, Granite City Housing Authority executive officer.

Following dinner, pinocle and other games were played, with prizes going to Art Rankin, Arthur Lindner, Catherine Moser, Effie Johnson, Emma Gobble and Mrs. Crawley.

Other gifts were won by John Spelver, Della Hagen, Lumeta Durbin, Ruth Purkey, Gussie Munsterman, Mrs. Moser, Martin Schulte and Morgan. Mrs. Crawley announced cancellation of the Dec. 25 business session.

A pollack dinner and installation of 1980 officers will take place Tuesday, Jan. 8. Assisting in the kitchen at this week's event were Tom Crawley, Caroline Lux, Jennie Moody, Effie Johnson, Evelyn Davis, Alva Stearns, Edith Young, Cleveland Cox, Schulte, Mrs. Moser and the club president.

2 deaths in November accidents

Fifty-seven persons were injured and two were killed in traffic accidents in the Quad-City area during November, according to statistics compiled by the Press-Record.

Reports showed the 57 persons injured were hurt in 39 accidents that involved injuries. Accidents involving property damage only were not included in the report.

November accident figures showed only slight variations from those of November 1978 when 48 accidents caused injuries to 79 persons. There also were two fatalities during November 1978.

The November injury accidents were only one more than the 38 in the area during October; two more persons, a total of 59, were injured, but there were no traffic deaths during October.

Last month's statistics brought to 662 persons injured in accidents during the first 11 months of this year in a total of 518 injury accidents.

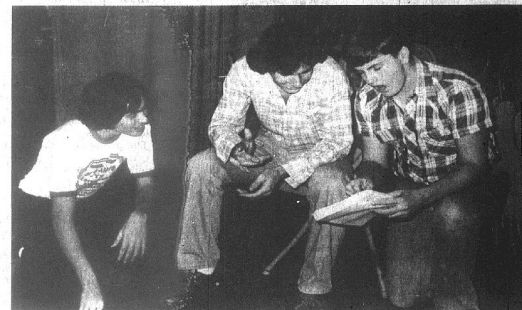

During the 11 months, 13 persons have died in traffic crashes in this area.

There were 826 persons injured in 564 accidents, with 20 fatalities, during the same period in 1978.

'A Christmas Carol' in Madison Dec. 20

Theater will return to Madison High School Thursday, Dec. 20, with the production of "A Christmas Carol."

The traditional Christmas favorite is being produced by the junior humanities class under the direction of Ronald Crader.

Auditions were open to the entire student body, and the cast of 21 actors and four carolers includes members from all grades.

The carolers, under the direction of Mrs. Dolores Folkerts, provide additional Christmas spirit with such old favorites as: "Deck the Halls," "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Silent Night" and others.

The evening is intended to be one of lighthearted merriment and good cheer, as the cast members attempt to soften the heart of the tight-fisted, penny-pinching Ebenezer Scrooge.

The curtain will rise at 7:30 p.m. in the Madison High School auditorium.

Admission will be $1 for students and $1.50 for adults.

The cast and their parts are: Robert Johnson, Scrooge; Robert Tarasovich, Bob Cratchit; Tyrone Marzly, Fred the undertaker's man; Darlene Bennett, Mary; Terrence Haynes, Marley's ghost; Sandy Noud, ghost of Christmas past.

Matthew Thomas, Mr. Fezziwig, the ghost of Christmas present; Jeffery Herron, Dick the street urchin and Topper, the ghost of Christmas future.

Becky Gunther, Mrs. Cratchit; Venita Davenport, Belle; Tina Taylor, 1st woman; Barbara Hodge, 2nd woman; Geraldine Reed, Rose as Fran; Brenda Walker, Martha; Yulonda Nichols, Belinda; Veronica Williams, laundress; Susan Beede, Ruth and Mrs. Fezziwig; Tracy Champion a Pat, young girl and street urchin.

Craig Waters, young boy Scrooge; Tammy Donaldson the charwoman Sarah; Kenny Schneide, Tiny Tim.

Carolers are: Devonda Gordon, Terri Smith, Patricia London, Ruth Jacks and Debra Howard.

Stage manager is Mickey Topal; spotlights directors Jim Woodson and Ed Forister; stage lights operator Vincent Dohnal; curtain operator Lois Miller, and program designers Judy Gouy, Denise Pingel, Lisa Bridick, Diane Gorka and Lois Miller.

Kidney treatment in New York a holiday gift by Amvets, Auxiliary

The Amvets Women's Auxiliary and Amvets of Madison Post 204 are doing more than collecting canned goods and toys for needy families this Christmas. They have financed a trip to New York for a local man. The man would not be able to see another Christmas without annual treatments in New York for a rare kidney disease.

"While other groups were making baskets for needy families, we wanted to do something special for one family," said Karen Martin, public relations officer of the Amvets Auxiliary.

"When we found out about this family, which wouldn't be able to be together this Christmas without the treatments, we thought it would be a worthwhile project," she explained.

The group approved the funding at its Dec. 4 meeting, just seven days prior to the deadline for his treatment in New York this week.

The Amvets approved their part of the donation at the Dec. 5 meeting. Commander Vasil Graville of the post and President Mae Jean Adams, of the auxiliary presented the airline ticket to the family on Sunday.

The Auxiliary of Post 204, made up of mothers, widows, wives, sisters and daughters of American veterans, has only been in existence for three months. This is its first community service project.

The Auxiliary also plans to set up a trust fund in conjunction with this project so that the family will be able to finance the next treatment. Plans for this fund will be announced in the near future.

The group has not ruled out a canned good drive. The members are currently collecting canned food and toys to make up packages for other local families.

For more information on the food and toy drive, Quad-Cityans may contact Amvets Post 204 at 1242 Iowa St. after 3 p.m.

W. E. Blackburn dies

William Edward Blackburn Sr., 50, of Rural Route One, Granite City, Ill. for five years, died at 11 a.m. Monday at John Cochran Veterans' Hospital, St. Louis. He had been a patient there for six days.

He was born in Tamm, Mo. and had resided in the Quad-City area for 47 years.

Mr. Blackburn owned and operated Bill's Automotive Transmission Co. in Madison for 10 years, prior to his retirement.

He had served in the U.S.

Navy during World War II and in the Korean Conflict and was retired from the Coast Guard Reserves.

Mr. Blackburn was a member of Pvt. Ostendorf Post 1300 VFW and the International Association of Machinist-Auto Workers, District 9.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Priscilla (Howland) Blackburn; two sons, William Edward Blackburn Jr., and Chris Blackburn, both of Granite City; two brothers, Elmer Blackburn, Houston, Texas, and Clinton Blackburn, Granite City; a sister, Mrs. Robert (Waneta) Curtis, Mitchell, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Kelly (Ida Howland) Clontz, Granite City.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Blackburn and a brother, James Blackburn.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Work available for teens on probation

Operation Turnaround, a program designed to give part-time jobs to teenage students who are on probation for juvenile offenses is seeking applicants.

Jobs pay $2.90 per hour and students who are on probation will work 10 hours per week on road maintenance, park improvements and other public service jobs.

The program is designed for juvenile offenders in the 14 to 16 age group, but students in other age groups who meet the criteria will be considered.

Any juvenile boy who currently is on probation may file an application with the Illinois Job Service, 1820 Cleveland Blvd. The Job Service will verify that the student's family income qualifies him for the program. Income guidelines are the same as for the CETA (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act) program.

Students in the program will work every Saturday and one weeknight every two weeks. Those accepted will work in their own communities, except that some Saturdays all crews from throughout the county will aid in developing a park in northern Alton.

Further information on Operation Turnaround is available from the county probation officers, or by calling Mark Somma at 1-602-4008. The Job Service also has information and is the only place where applications can be filed. Applicants are asked to write "Operation Turnaround" on their job applications, so the applications will be routed directly to Somma when approved.

Somma said the project has been successful in some areas, but few from the Quad-City area have submitted applications.

TRAILER IS LOOTED

A portable generator, a space heater, two calculators, a radio, two hot plates, several rain suits and a machete were stolen from an Illinois Department of Transportation construction trailer near Route 162 and State Aid Route 35 last week. The items were valued at about $550.
